Navy headquarters in London issued information sheets for men with instructions ranging from "Don't discuss your ships or trips," to "They don't like beer over here, so, please, no comments."

Advice to Commons

No Knighthoods For Canadians, Says Committee

OTTAWA (CP)—The House of Commons honors and decorations committee today recommended to Parliament the establishment of a special order for residents of Canada.

The committee's report, tabled by the chairman, Hon. Cyrus MacMillan, Lib., Queens, P.E.I., also includes a recommendation that Canadians should be eligible "for the award of honors and decorations, including awards in the orders of chivalry, which do not involve titles."

If the committee's recommendations are accepted by Parliament, Canadians will be permitted to accept such honors as the Order of the British Empire, Companion of St. Michael and St. George, Companion of the British Empire and British Empire Medal.

Already Canadians are permitted to receive the Distinguished Service Order, given army officers, and the awards of Distinguished Flying Cross in the air force and Distinguished Service Cross in the navy.

FOR EXCEPTIONAL SERVICE
Dr. MacMillan told the Canadian Press the idea of the committee was to have a Canadian order which would be high in the scale of awards, somewhat similar to the Order of Merit, and which would be given only for exceptional service.

The Order of Merit, when it was established by King Edward VII in 1902, was limited to a total of 16, and now there are only 26 persons holding the award. It has never been given to persons outside the United Kingdom, it is understood.

The Canadian order would be awarded by the King and the name it would be given and the conditions could only be decided after consultation with His Majesty. It might be limited to 20, to make it all the more valuable because of its rarity.

ST. LAWRENCE
At one time there was a suggestion that a Canadian order be established, to be called the Order of St. Lawrence. This name might be used, or it might be called the Order of Canada.

India has a similar order, the Star of India.
The Canadian order would be given for either distinguished service in the armed forces or in civilian activities. There would be a decoration to be worn by the person receiving it and letters after his name indicating he was a member of such an order.

Dr. MacMillan emphasized that the reference to the committee from the Commons did not include the field of titles, either hereditary or others. Accordingly, the committee gave no consideration to bringing them back. If the recommendations are accepted it will not bring back knighthoods or any other order which carried a title before the recipient's name.

Mystery Hinted

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Police here are faced with a first-class mystery, following the finding in the Thames River of a club bag containing an R.C.A.F. uniform.

Canada to Use Wheat for Alcohol To Make Rubber

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA—Munitions Minister C. D. Howe believes that in a synthetic rubber process which uses both a petroleum and grain alcohol base Canada very definitely "has something" of vital value not only in the present war emergency but in peacetime.

"I do not believe we will ever go back to crude rubber in Canada again," Howe promised confidently to press gallery correspondents.

Two big distilleries will be converted from making whisky to making grain alcohol from surplus wheat.

He believes that the commodity which the Polymer Corporation—the government's wholly-owned $40,000,000 synthetic rubber enterprise—will commence to produce on a scale of 40,000 tons in 1943, will be both a cheaper and more efficient substitute for natural rubber and will continue to replace it after the war.

40,000 TONS A YEAR

Dr. H. B. Speakman, head of the Ontario Research Foundation and one of the outstanding industrial scientists of the Dominion, is key technical man in the train of events leading to adoption of the program around which the government's production of synthetic rubber is being standardized.

As special emissary of Mr. Howe, Dr. Speakman recently toured the great laboratories of the United States in which synthetic rubber experiments are now in progress, was given full access to the latest developments. As a consequence of his investigations the Canadian government, which originally had contemplated a process of manufacture from a petroleum base alone, revised its program to pioneer in the use in the one plant of both petroleum and grain alcohol bases.

8,000,000 BUSHELS WHEAT

The Polymer Corporation last week broke ground for its huge $40,000,000 plant near Sarnia, Ont. Its schedule calls for the production of 40,000 tons of synthetic rubber next year, and of this total some 8,000 tons will be made from a grain alcohol base. Upwards of 8,000,000 bushels of Canada's surplus wheat will be required as raw material, and two distilleries will be converted to produce the particular form of alcohol—butyl glycol—for which the process calls.

NONE FOR CIVILIANS

Great advantage of the Canadian plant's use of both petroleum and grain alcohol as a base is there is no wastage of by-products. Various residues of the process of manufacture from the petroleum base became the raw materials of the synthetic rubber made from a grain alcohol base. Result is a reduction in costs which promises to make the Canadian process cheaper than using natural rubber.

Prospects, however, of the government's synthetic rubber program assisting the civilian during wartime are declared by the authorities to be definitely "out." Production planned is in the ratio of four tons from a petroleum base for every ton from a grain alcohol base. This production, it is said, will not be sufficient to even meet the nation's war needs.

Chinese Inflict Losses on Japs

CHUNGKING (AP)—Heavy casualties have been inflicted on the Japanese in fighting spread over three provinces, and two points near Lishui, Japanese-held air base in southeastern Chekiang, have been recaptured. The Chinese high command announced today.

Some of the heaviest losses were said to have been suffered by the Japanese in Chinese attempts to retake Kweiki, a point on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway, a short stretch of which the Chinese have recaptured.

To the north, in southeastern Shansi province, the communists said, half of a Japanese column was wiped out after being cut off west of Lingchuan. The other half broke through the Chinese cordon and retreated, with the Chinese in pursuit.

LANE'S HALIFAX DROPS 2-TONNERS

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

LONDON (CP)—While Canadian night fighters were busy destroying Nazi raiders over England Thursday night, fellow fliers from the Dominion aboard heavy Halifaxes were pounding the Ruhr defences with two-ton bombs for the second successive night.

The Canadians were part of a British raiding force which penetrated the heavy defences of the Ruhr and Rhineland and started many fires. The exact location of the targets was not disclosed by the air ministry.

Flt.-Lt. Reggie Lane of Victoria, B.C., captain of a Halifax, told of seeing "the tremendous flashes of our 4,000-pounders which a cloudbank couldn't hide."

The Halifax was in the centre of a concentrated ack-ack attack when it was caught momentarily in a cone of searchlights and went in to drop bombs with shells bursting all around.

"I couldn't see the flashes of the guns," Lane said. "The sky was covered ahead of us with puffs of smoke. I had to wind through them and it was like dodging missiles. We were so close to some shellbursts we could smell them. It is far too close when you can smell the cordite."

Canadian night fighters shared in the destruction of at least four of the seven raiders destroyed over Britain during the night.

Reginon Gets D.F.C.

VALETTA, Malta (CP)—The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded to F.O. Leslie Patrick Sandiford Reginon of Regina, R.C.A.F. radio observer who has flown consistently with F.O. R. C. Fumerton of Fort Coulogne, Que., night fighter ace.

Fumerton recently received the Distinguished Flying Cross and bar for destroying enemy bombers.

Like Express Trains Roaring Down Canyon Shells Pour On Foe

By M. H. HALTON

TEL. EL. EISA (Special Cable)—It's so fascinating in an observation post 50 yards from where this is written that you can't concentrate and don't know where to look first.

"You're sure, sir, that I'm not getting in the way," you say, and the colonel says: "Not at all, but for God's sake keep your head down in that last 20 yards. I haven't fought with a Canadian for 25 years and I don't want to lose you now. I wish we had a division of your blokes here."

"Did I tell you about my boy who silenced a machine gun just there the other morning?" His company were having a rough time and the company commander shouted: "Who'll get that Spandau?" The boy went in on his belly and grenaded them.

Alamein's hot day of battle is long, yet there is little time to write. You spend hours with gun crews, with regimental aid posts, with front-line battalions and then someone says: "We've only got one hour and a half to catch our dispatch rider at Hell Corner."

WORDS ECHO IN MEMORY

Shells go over and we dive for shelter. I get out my typewriter. Words echo in my memory: "Who'll get that Spandau?" It happened there 400 yards away; and right now 800 yards away I can see the Aussies at their machine guns and the Germans a half-mile beyond them.

Why isn't one more excited than at a play in London, when one can see their shells falling among German tanks and men at their machine guns in advanced posts of battle?

Our shells are going over like—like what? What simile can describe it to those who haven't heard? At the risk of triteness, I can only ask readers to imagine the sound of an express train reverberating through a canyon at 300 miles an hour. Five express trains and then five explosions among the enemy—crump, crump, crump, crump—and a sudden burst of flame and smoke.

Battle of Egypt British Tanks Stab at Rommel, Planes Active

CAIRO (AP)—British armored forces continued to stab at the Axis forces west of El Alamein while consolidating positions won on the northern and central sectors in two days of sharp fighting, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's headquarters announced today.

At the same time the enemy was subjected to a steady bombardment by artillery and by the R.A.F., which blasted at Axis gun emplacements, concentrations of motor vehicles and communication lines.

Most of the action, the communiqué said, again centred on the central front, where British forces have driven the enemy from the western end of El Ruweisat ridge, and in the coastal area, where Australian forces were reported in control of the "Hill of Jesus" and neighboring ridges.

QUIET IN SOUTH

In the southern sector, fringed by the salt marshes of the Qattara Depression, there was no fighting worthy of mention, the bulletin said.

There was some enemy air activity over the front, in which Nazi dive bombers took a hand. R.A.F. fighters, however, were quick to engage the enemy planes, and were credited officially with shooting down four dive bombers, one Messerschmitt fighter and a reconnaissance bomber.

Two other Axis aircraft were shot down Thursday during minor air activity over Malta, the R.A.F. reported.

British losses were five planes.

AUSSIES BAG A STUKA

Then the Stukas swoop down upon us and we can sometimes see their bombs as they leave the machines. This time one is killed by machine gun bullets fired by skilful but cursing Aussies, and it dives wallowing into the sea. That has just happened.

Elsewhere in the world women go into their gardens and cut sweet peas. "The garden is a month late this year," says a letter brought up by the dispatch rider last night. Come and see the ducks in the lake in St. James' Park, says a letter from London. Little David locked himself in the bathroom and we had to break open the door, says another. Bluebirds are nesting in the vines, writes mother, and Teddy is playing a violin solo in the church tonight.

But here no bluebirds wheel. Here we crawl into an observation post and see men's graves and sweating infantrymen and enemy vehicles moving. We stiffen as shells come over. Evening comes and the sun drops suddenly into the sea. The moon will be brighter tonight.

OUR BOSTONS ROAR OVER

There's a hum in the sky which becomes a roar. Our Bostons are going over. They attack enemy positions not one mile away. Fifty bombs drop. Look at that! Keep your head down. Yes, sir; sorry, sir.

Who is that shouting? It's a wounded German prisoner. If you look at that position 200 yards to the right of the garden, you'll see one of our boys combing his hair for tea. The garden! A little patch of camel thorn.

Zing, zing, zing. Yes, our two-pounder anti-tank guns are all right when the enemy gets close enough, and the other day they were cracking Jerry's big Mark-4's from only 200 yards. You see those blokes on the left down there? They're our destroyers. As soon as a tank is hit, they hop straight out and burn it up.

Jerry has gone. Soon some of the men below on the stage will have a respite of coolness and sleep.

Last Ditch Stand On Banks of Don

DARK AND LIGHT IN BATTLE OF RUSSIA—Nazi gains during past month have hung like a club over Rostov, gateway to the Caucasus. Nazis claim Rostov to be a-fire and captured. Reds claimed advances in the Voronezh sector which might seriously threaten German flank. Meanwhile, as Russian situation continued to become increasingly grave, reports from London indicated that United Nations might be considering a "limited Second Front" to relieve pressure on Russia.

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red army took its stand today on the banks of the broad lower Don for a last ditch defence of the northern Caucasus against a still further reinforced Axis onslaught which overran the Donets basin, beat at Rostov and heightened the menace to Stalingrad.

The Russians reported holding as best they could in positions to which they withdrew in the Novocherkassk area, 20 miles northeast of Rostov, and said they had developed a flank attack against the right wing of the Nazi Don River front at Tsimpliansk, midway between Rostov and Stalingrad. (The Germans claimed the capture of Rostov Friday.)

The Red army counterattacks bespoke the Russians' determination at any cost to keep the Caucasus from isolation by holding the Tikhovsk-Stalingrad rail line, last railway link to the far southern front.

The threat to this line was sharply drawn by the Nazi advance on Tsimpliansk, just north of the Don at a point where the river curves within 35 miles of the railway.

Russian Bombers Pound Axis Rear
As the Red army battled to hold back the invaders, Russian bombers were attacking day and night, pounding the Axis reinforcements which streamed up through a great area shimmering with heat waves and plumed with the smoke of battle.

By night a half-moon lent its yellow light to the field ablaze with fires, the red spouting flashes of artillery and the glow of airplane flares.

Twelve hours after announcing a withdrawal in the Novocherkassk zone, the Soviet Information Bureau said fighting continued there from new positions.

"Our men repulsed attacks by numerically superior enemy forces," it said. "In one narrow sector alone the Germans lost 17 tanks and more than 800 men killed."

Two attacks by German tanks and automatic riflemen near Tsimpliansk on the Don were repelled and Soviet units then struck at the Nazi flank.

The Russians knocked out nine German tanks and killed more than 400 of the automatic riflemen, it was declared.

The army newspaper Red Star headlined:

"Fighters of the Red army! Summon all forces to halt the enemy! Don't let the Fascists invade the north Caucasus!"

Rail to Caucasus Nazi's Objective
A Nazi objective in the drive on the Don at Tsimpliansk is the Stalingrad-Rostov railway which forms unoccupied Russia's sole remaining line from the Caucasus.

A threat of encirclement forced Soviet troops to withdraw before

Canada's Output Of Munitions Up Nearly 3 Times

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's munition production for the second quarter of 1942 was almost three times that of the same period of 1941, the joint war production committee of Canada and the United States said in a report made today to Prime Minister Mackenzie King and President Roosevelt.

A statement on the report, submitted by the joint chairman, Milo Perkins of the U.S. section and G. K. Shields, deputy minister of the Canadian section, was made public simultaneously in Ottawa and Washington.

The report, first to be made by the committee which was organized last December, summarized action taken so far to increase the war output of both countries by reducing duplication, revising specifications to increase the number of common-type weapons, arranging more rapid exchanges of supplies to avoid production delays, breaking transportation bottlenecks, eliminating tariff and other barriers and promoting a full exchange of information on production methods and designs.

"Annual rate of United States munitions production for the second quarter of 1942 was up nearly four times over 1941," the statement on the report said. "Canadian production, including many critical items, was up nearly three times for the same period. Future schedules call for still sharper increases, especially in the United States, where all-out production effort goes under way at a later date than in Canada."

U.S. DEMAND BIG

United States orders for Canadian munitions have more than doubled in recent months, it was reported. These orders have assisted Canada in meeting foreign exchange problems along the lines outlined in the Hyde Park agreement of April, 1941.

Duplication in production has been greatly reduced and in one case Canada concentrated on one type airplane propeller and the United States on another, resulting in more efficient total production.

Siberia Army Braced For Attack by Japs

By BILL BONI

NEW YORK (AP)—While Allied leaders discuss the problem of diversionary attacks to ease Nazi pressure on the embattled Russian armies, there is a continuing possibility that the Russians will face a new front in Asia even before Britain and the United States can open up any sort of second front in western Europe.

Japan is believed to have upward of 500,000 troops (some sources estimate as many as 750,000) stationed in Manchukuo and easily accessible parts of northern China.

A strong proportion of the Japanese air force also is based in Manchukuo, according to the best available information, with additional facilities—air fields, fuel supplies, spare parts, repair bases—long since completed so that combat operations could begin the moment the needed extra planes had been flown in from China or the Japanese home islands.

IN SEPTEMBER?

If the Japanese should attack Siberia (and the Aleutian occupation well may have been a move to protect their flank for such an operation) there is little likelihood that it would be set in motion, however, before late September or early October.

Primary target of such an attack would be, presumably, Russia's maritime provinces, and July and August are months of heat and heavy rains along most of the lowland Siberian-Manchukuo border.

In recent weeks there have been indications, however slight, that the Russians feel they are prepared to meet anything the Japanese may throw at them. Still sticking to their principle of keeping all their military developments strictly secret, the Soviets, nevertheless, have hinted that their Siberian armies and air force are in full fighting trim.

700 RUSSIAN PLANES

There is no definite information on the strength of these Russian armies. Estimates have ranged all the way from 300,000 to 600,000 troops, with the possibility that some divisions had their baptism of fire in helping stall the Germans' winter offensive in Russia. These forces are said to be backed up by 600 to 700 planes, while based chiefly on Vladivostok are naval units reported to include 70 submarines, some 50 torpedo boats and other small vessels.

Most military observers believe that, in the case of a Russian-Japanese war Vladivostok would bear the full weight of the opening Japanese air attack. Less than 700 bomber miles across the sea from Tokyo and other industrial centres of Japan, this Siberian base would have to be eliminated before the Japanese could hope to push an offensive.

SAKHALIN FIGHT

Along with Vladivostok, the Japanese probably would concentrate on occupation of the northern half of Sakhalin Island and seizure of fog-shrouded Kamchatka Peninsula, both in an attempt to give added protection to their flank and block aid from the United States, and bombing attacks on the industrial centres which the Russians are known to have built up chiefly in the region north of Khabarovsk in an effort to make eastern Siberia as nearly self-sufficient as possible.

In some quarters in the United States a Russian-Japanese clash would be welcomed on the theory that, by way of the Aleutians and Kamchatka, it would open a road for direct United States attack on Japan. This might be true in the long run, but at the start the United States would have staggering problems to overcome before it could offer Russia even as much as token aid.

Long-range bombers and even smaller planes might be flown into Siberia from Alaska right at the start. But planes in themselves would be of no use without ground crews, spare parts and fuel supplies. All or almost all of these now would have to be sent across by ship—and against any such ship movements the Japanese would have the threat of their holdings in the western Aleutians, where they are known to have submarines and surface ships.

Airmen Hit Back

Japs Proceed With Landings On New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (CP)—Before the Japanese could settle down in their newly-seized base on the south-east coast of New Guinea Allied airmen went to work on them Thursday, knocking out the third transport in three days, destroying shore installations and forcing frenzied invasion troops to leap wildly overboard from landing barges.

Despite the heavy cost the enemy went ahead with operations in the Gona Mission-Buna area, where a tenuous hold was gained Wednesday, and a military spokesman indicated another small sea-borne Japanese force had been put ashore at Ambasi, 30 miles up the Papua peninsula coast from Buna.

Allied dive-bombers, used for the first time against land targets in New Guinea, and medium bombers made five separate raids on the Gona Mission-Buna area and a headquarters commune said they started numerous fires.

TRANSPORT BURNS

A 5,000-ton fuel-laden transport was caught squarely amidships and set afire. Previously two other transports had been hit, and one of them sunk as the cruiser and destroyer-protected Japanese convoy moved down the coast from Japanese-held Salamaua.

Allied fighters joined Thursday's attacks, skimming just above the whitecaps to spray machine-gun bursts into troop-jammed landing barges.

Ashore, the fighters shot up machine gun nests and silenced an anti-aircraft battery in repeated attacks. Other fighters pounced on a small enemy ship north of Salamaua, itself 150 miles northwest of Buna.

Gona Mission was the enemy's first successful penetration southward toward Australia since the occupation of Salamaua and Lae last March.

Seven American and Australian crewmen of an Allied bomber which sank one 10,000-ton Japanese transport a quarter of a mile off the beach at Buna said they first sighted two 10,000-ton transports escorted by destroyers headed for the Buna area Tuesday.

They were forced to return to their base, but went back Wednesday morning and found the Japanese already landing troops and equipment in barges.

The first stick of bombs scored near misses around the destroyers. On the second run, a stick of bombs was placed across the transport. Barges alongside the ship seemed to erupt and disappear. Others blazed fiercely. The transport sank by the stern.

Other barges headed for shore were bombed and tiny figures of Japanese could be seen flying into the air. Others dived into the sea on all sides.

Anti-aircraft fire was intense, both from the Japanese ships and the shore, but the Allied airmen said they were not hit.

"Apparently the enemy had landed anti-aircraft guns overnight," they said.

JAPANESE CLAIMS

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts, AP)—Imperial headquarters claimed today that Japanese naval airmen had shot down 325 enemy planes and destroyed 109 more on the ground in operations over New Guinea, the Solomon Islands and adjacent areas north of Australia between Feb. 2 and July 20. Japanese losses were put at 54 planes.

The period covered by the Japanese communiqué includes the Coral Sea battle in which, the United States navy department said, the enemy lost more than 100 planes.

Individual Mailing

Of Newspapers Banned

OTTAWA (CP)—Mailing of newspapers overseas by individuals will be restricted, effective August 10, Postmaster-General Mulock said in the House of Commons today.

Complete newspapers and periodicals will not be accepted from individuals, who will be asked instead to mail clippings, Mr. Mulock said.

The restriction is intended to conserve shipping space. Publishers have agreed to co-operate in the plan and the matter of newspapers and publications mailed to subscribers now is under consideration, he said.

These restrictions will apply to newspapers and periodicals to both civilians and members of the forces in the United Kingdom and other trans-Atlantic destinations, and in Central and South America, Bermuda and the British West Indies.

R.C.A.F. Night Fighter Downs Nazi

Bombers Blast Nazi Ruhr Plants

LONDON (CP)—A strong force of R.A.F. bombers attacked objectives in western Germany's industrial Ruhr and Rhineland Thursday night, the Air Ministry announced today.

At least three Canadian squadrons participated in this latest smash on the war-battered industrial plants of the Ruhr.

Nazi-occupied airdromes in the Low Countries also were bombed and railways and other targets in invaded territory were attacked in the night by fighters, the ministry said.

NAZIS LOSE NINE PLANES

It reported that seven British bombers were missing, but two enemy aircraft were destroyed during the continental raids and seven German bombers were shot down during night attacks on Britain, one by a night fighter of a Canadian squadron.

P.O. Arthur George Lawrence of Brandon, Man., and Sgt. J. F. Wilmer of Vancouver formed the crew of the R.C.A.F. Beaufighter that destroyed one of the German bombers.

Five of the German planes fell to the Beaufighter squadron led by Wing Cmdr. Max Aitken, son

Slot Machine Argument Widens

SEATTLE (AP)—Seattle's test of the validity of the state slot machine law has become a state-wide issue.

A score of officers of clubs in the state, banded together as the Washington State Federation of Fraternal, Patriotic, City and Country Clubs, announced after a meeting here that they would seek a restraining order against interference by Seattle police with the operation of slot machines in private clubs.

The state law, enacted in 1937, allows slot machines in private clubs. Seattle Police Judge James Hodson recently expressed belief the law was invalid because it allowed gambling in the clubs while forbidding it to the general public.

The club officers pointed out Thursday, however, that a King County (Seattle) superior judge previously had held the slot machine law to be valid.

The whole controversy was precipitated by a police raid Tuesday night against slot machines in the Washington Athletic Club. Police Chief Herbert Kinsey said he had ordered the action because of military authorities' expressed opposition to them.

"It just means closing us down if slot machines are thrown out," commented President Joseph Albi of Spokane's famed Athletic Round Table. "Everyone knows how much charity and welfare work the Round Table does. It's slot machines which largely finance this work."

Hull Sketches Post-War World

International Force Must Keep the Peace

WASHINGTON (CP)—State Secretary Cordell Hull sketched in broad outline Thursday night a postwar world dedicated to the economic and social betterment of man everywhere, operating on the principles of co-operation that govern the war efforts of the United Nations.

"It is plain that some international agency must be created which can, by force if necessary, keep the peace among nations in the future," he said, a statement that emphasized the rapid strides the United States has taken away from isolation in recent months.

Hull's outline of postwar projects was one of the most specific yet made by a high United Nations official and amplified the policies previously advanced by British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, Vice-President Henry A. Wallace and the U.S. Under-Secretary of State, Sumner Welles, among others.

It was delivered in an address broadcast over United States and Canadian networks and for short-wave to the world.

Urges Free Trade

And Co-operation

Hull pleaded for international co-operation after the war, lowering of trade barriers, ultimate reduction of armaments, establishment of an international court of justice, interchange of national currencies at stable rates and other policies designed to improve the social and economic status of all mankind.

At the same time, he warned the remaining neutral countries that their professions of neutrality were "absurd and suicidal" in the face of the world-wide conflict, and called on "all peoples who prize liberty" to fight for it as their duty.

The State Secretary advocated the widely discussed "period of transition" immediately after the war, during which the United Nations co-operatively must "supplement and make more effective the action of countries individually in re-establishing public order, in providing swift relief, in meeting the manifold problems of readjustment."

"Beyond these there will lie before all countries the great constructive task of building human freedom and Christian morality on firmer and broader foundations than ever before. This task, too, will of necessity call for both national and international action."

He stressed that the road would not be an easy one to follow.

"Neither victory nor any form of post-war settlement will of itself create a millennium," he said. "Rather we shall be offered an opportunity to eliminate vast obstacles and wastes, to make available additional means of advanced national and international standards, to create new facilities whereby the natural resources of the earth and the products of human hands and brains can be more effectively utilized for the promotion of human welfare."

Planned Boldness

Needed After War

"The manifold tasks that lie ahead will not be accomplished overnight. There will be need for plans, developed with careful consideration and carried forward boldly and vigorously. The vision, the resolution, and the skill with which the conditions of peace will be established and developed after the war will be as much as a measure of man's capacity for freedom and progress as the fervor and determination which men show in winning the victory."

In appealing to neutral nations to apply "the law of self-defence and self-preservation rather than professions of neutrality," Hull said that this was no ordinary war but an attempt by depraved and cruel leaders "to conquer and enslave this country and every country."

In such a conflict, he said, professions of neutrality "are as absurd and as suicidal as are such professions on the part of a citizen of a peaceful community attacked by a band of confessed outlaws."

For the would-be conquerors against whom the 28 United Nations are fighting are determined to "convert the 2,000,000,000 of the earth's inhabitants into abject victims and tools of their insatiable lust for power and domination," he said.

Of the war itself, Hull said: "Our enemies confront us with armed might in every part of the globe. We cannot win this war by standing by our borders and limiting ourselves to beating off attacks. Air, submarine and other forms of assault can be effectively defeated only if those attacked seek out and destroy the sources of attack."

"We shall send all the aid that we can to our gallant allies. And we shall seek out our enemies and attack them at any and every point of the globe at which the destruction of the Axis forces can be accomplished most effectively, most speedily and most certainly.

"We know the magnitude of the task before us. We know that its accomplishment will exact unlimited effort and unfaltering courage. However long the road, we shall press on to the final victory."

"Fighting as we are in self-defence, in self-preservation, we must make certain the defeat and destruction of the world-invading forces of Hitler and the Japanese war lords. To do this our people and the peoples of every one of the 28 United Nations must make up their minds to sacrifice time and substance and life itself to an extent unprecedented in past history."

Hull's Address

Pleases British

LONDON (CP)—Cordell Hull's speech calling on all liberty-loving peoples to help defeat the Axis drew expressions of keen interest and satisfaction from well-informed British circles today.

There was no immediate official comment on the address.

Some sources linked Mr. Hull's words with Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's declaration Thursday for postwar British and American co-operation. There was speculation, over the implied warnings to neutrals.

"These two speeches are absolutely complementary," said one Briton. "It is a bit tricky to interpret specifically what neutrals Mr. Hull had in mind, since he was at pains not to give names. It seems he had a rather large group in mind. He made an excellent talk."

JAPANESE IDEAS

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts, AP)—The impression created among the people of Japan by Cordell Hull's speech Thursday night is that it contains "hardly an iota of improvement on what the United States has proposed before, including Woodrow Wilson's league and Frank Kellogg's peace machinery," the Domei agency declared today.

The Domei article, by Masao Dodo, said further: "For Hull to claim American right to leadership in enforcing peace upon the rest of the world is temerity of the grossest order. Ten years of Hull at the helm of American diplomacy saw the American government knock one prop after another from under the world's peace structure until finally they invited war in the Pacific."

Tim Buck Urges Second Front

TORONTO (CP)—The immediate opening of a second front in Europe to relieve the pressure on the Russians is urged by Tim Buck, general secretary of the Canadian Communist Party, in a statement issued by the Dominion Communist-Labor Total War Committee over the signature of Beatrice Fernyhough, secretary-treasurer.

"Whether Hitler will be stopped and defeated or the Allies will be condemned to military inferiority and impotence through allowing him to continue the tactics of 'one at a time' depend upon whether or not we seize the initiative and strike with all possible violence in Europe now," says the statement.

There was no indication where the statement was prepared by Buck, whose whereabouts have been unknown since the Communist Party was declared an illegal organization under Defence of Canada Regulations.

Buck said the recommendation of the special House of Commons committee that the ban on the Communist party be lifted and Defence of Canada regulations be amended "make for the strengthening of national unity."

Bren Carriers Charge Like Movie Cowboys 'Shooting Up' Town

By M. H. HALTON
AN OBSERVATION POST AT TEL EL EISA (Special Cable)—A colonel came forward, crawled into his observation post and told me stories today.

"Look now at that grave just to the right of the garden," he said. "That's Gunner So-and-So's grave and I'll tell you how he died. Just now you drove past those four German Mark-4 tanks on the left of the garden—we were watching you. Well, those tanks with infantry were attacking Alamein and quite cleverly avoiding our anti-tank guns then in the garden. But our 25-pounders further back gave them such a pasting they were forced to turn left."

"Gunner So-and-So then went to work. He fired three shots, one two-three, and destroyed three Mark-4's. As he shot at the fourth another got him. A 75-shell from a German Mark-4 got that lad. You see there's his grave."

AUSSIE WON EXCHANGE

"You see those three men creeping toward the station?" asked the colonel. "All right. Do you see that Mark-4 tank just to their left? Well, I'll tell you about that tank. The day before yesterday with other tanks it attacked that company—look the enemy's trying to snipe us—where was I? Well, my lads were lying in slit trenches with sticky bombs. That tank passed right over one slit trench and as it went over zig-zagging to destroy the man in the trench the German tank commander shouted in English, 'Take that, you Australian So-and-So.' "As soon as he'd passed over the private got up and threw a sticky-bomb at the tank with the words, 'Take that, you German So-and-So.' You can see what happened to the tank."

As it burned the German tank officer jumped out, surrendered to the private and congratulated him—"Look, there's a German tank moving over there."

Our shells were rushing over our heads from three miles back with strange terrible reverberations like the beating of mad-dened wings.

INFANTRY STANDS UP TO TANKS

The colonel said: "We've shaken Jerry's tanks. Our infantry's shaken him. We used to read that Russian infantry stood up to German tanks and hardly believed it. Now we do, because our boys do it. Stickies are hard to handle. You can't use them effectively until the enemy tanks are within five or six yards. But my boys do it. We aren't worried now about his tanks—nor about his infantry."

"Most Germans we capture are very young—the average age is 19 or 20. There was a German platoon commander sergeant who had been in the army 10 years. His platoon was unwilling to follow him but he came on and we got him. He was a poor enough specimen himself. We wouldn't have him in a labor battalion."

SENT BRENN CARRIERS AGAINST TANKS

"But here's the most audacious thing I ever saw," the colonel went on. "At one bad moment I had to send our Bren carriers in against tanks. First we put terrific artillery fire on them, then our carriers went in. They went out at last light, each carrier carrying an extra man with an extra machine-gunner. They went right across the enemy guns and shot up everything. It was like a wild west movie with cowboys galloping in to shoot up a town. They raced ahead with anti-tank shells whistling across their bows."

"Fifteen hundred shells were thrown at them. They shook the Boche that time. They made him look under his bed."

"I'm glad I got here at last," I said. "At brigade headquarters they tell us none of these details."

"QUIET DAY" AT BRIGADE H.Q.

"Oh, no, at brigade headquarters they call it a quiet day. They say nothing is happening. But I was standing here like a mother hen watching the show. I lost a year of my life watching for those nine carriers with nine good crews to come back to me. And believe it or not they all came back—with one casualty—look at those boys!"

From the observation post I watched those wonderful West Australians moving under fire.

The colonel said: "His tanks come along there every night, and every night we whack them. Sometimes I think the Germans are good and sometimes I don't. Sometimes they act like driven slaves doing nothing but what they're told to do. Yes, our stickies are worrying them. They got an awful shock to find our infantry could stand up to their tanks."

HARD PLACE TO REACH

A smoking, blinding spot is Tel el Eisa (Hill of Jesus) for which so many vicious actions have been fought in the last 10 days. It wasn't easy getting here but well worth my coming."

Eight hundred yards south of me is the desert railway station of that name. Near the station are forward companies of Australians and 800 yards from them are advanced enemy posts. Between my position and the station is the clump of camel scrub which the Aussies call "the garden."

Shells are bursting on us, on the station, on the garden. I see an Australian padre walking slowly past this garden, this Gethsemane, carrying a portable gramophone—of which more later.

I see soldiers' graves, German and Australian, behind and in front of me.

"I hear machine guns. I count at least nine knocked-out German tanks, one Italian aircraft and many vehicles."

The Aussie colonel's name will always live here now because his men gave it to a little sand-hill nearby.

SENTRY "GUIDE POST" MOVED

They told me it was safe enough to drive along the main coast road to reach this forward position.

"You'll be shelled, of course," they said, "but you can go fast except when you come to shell-holes in the road. You'll come to a sentry on the road. Turn off there."

Unfortunately the sentry had moved away for a few minutes. We drove past some Italian and German graves, past some of our own crosses, past four knocked-out German tanks, past an airplane burned to cinders on the road.

Suddenly we decided we had come too far and turned around quickly. We remembered we'd seen a rifle beside the road. We went back and found a soldier there.

" Lucky you came back," he said.

We could see enemy vehicles on the ridge above the road. The major in the observation post laughed as we crawled in with him later.

"We saw you," he said. "Somebody said, 'Look at that blanking staff car going to visit Rommel,' and we waited to see you shot up. There was nothing we could do. We laughed with relief when we saw you pull up and turn around. Why you weren't shot at I don't know."

PLAYS "MESSIAH" IN LULL

The first man we saw was a padre helping with first aid. "Now, why didn't you come yesterday?" he asked.

"It was quiet yesterday, wasn't it?" I asked. "Oh, yes, the battle was pretty quiet," he said, "but I had a little service with fine music from my gramophone. We had 'The Messiah.'"

A shell from a German 105 whined at us and exploded 100 yards away. A few minutes later in observation post we saw the padre with gramophone walking out to an advanced platoon's posts to give the boys some music.

"This is a dream," I said. "It's certainly a new editor's dream," said Australian war correspondent Jack Hetherington, furiously making notes.

In the early morning I had visited the crew of one of our great 4.5's in action. The troop commander came over and I found he'd been at Sidi Omar during those great days of Nov. 24 to 28. One of his crew had tattooed on his arm the Royal Artillery coat-of-arms with its famous word, "Ubique," given them as their battle honor because they are present "everywhere." Along the coat-of-arms he had tattooed the words, "France, Greece, Crete, Libya and Egypt."

Home Wine-makers Allowed No Sugar

OTTAWA (CP)—Operators of tourist homes and boarding houses catering to occasional and regular boarders are being notified by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board's rationing section that their registration as sugar users is good for three months only from date of registration, the board announces.

Farmers' wives and others who bake pies and cakes to send to market or to sell at home and who cannot be classed as commercial caterers will also be required to renew their registrations as sugar users periodically.

The order instituting coupon rationing made specific provision for boarding houses having only regular boarders. In these cases, said the board, the boarders should give the boarding-house keeper their ration cards, which may be used when necessary to replenish sugar supplies.

Detached coupons are valueless. Persons making wine in their homes may not obtain sugar for this purpose, the rationing division has ruled.

IT'S A VEGETABLE, RATES NO SUGAR

OTTAWA (CP)—The courts wouldn't back them up on it, but the Wartime Prices and Trade Board considers tomatoes to be vegetables when it comes to doling out sugar for canning—and as a vegetable, the tomato rates no sugar.

"Technically, the tomato is a berry, but we consider it a vegetable for purposes of sugar rationing," a board spokesman says. "The courts wouldn't back us up if it came to a technical definition."

He was commenting on a Vancouver dispatch which said that O. H. Bell, Vancouver sugar rationing officer, was troubled over whether a cooked tomato is a fruit or a vegetable.

The Oxford English Dictionary calls it a "red or yellow pulpy edible fruit," and adds: "Formerly called love-apple." Webster's Dictionary also describes it as a fruit.

Joint Staff Meetings

LONDON (CP)—Clement R. Attlee has disclosed that Lt. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Admiral Harold R. Stark of the United States armed forces at United meetings of the British chiefs of staffs committee "whenever they express a wish to or are invited to do so."

Gen. Eisenhower is commander of U.S. armed forces in the European theatre. Admiral Stark is commander of U.S. naval forces in European waters.

"The closest association prevails," Mr. Attlee, Dominions Secretary and deputy House leader, advised the House of Commons Thursday in replying to a question as to whether the U.S. is represented on the chiefs of staffs committee.

Idealistic War

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, told delegates from Canada, the United States and eight South American countries at the 26th annual Lions Club international convention here that "we stand together in defence of civilization."

"The present struggle is really one of the most idealistic of wars," Dr. Cody said. "Its range is as wide as the world and the issues are antagonistic ideas. At the bottom it is a colossal example of the fight between good and evil."

"There are sharp differences of conviction among us, but only to the extent to which we should be in it. A total war cannot be fought on a part-time basis or on a morally limited basis. That, most Canadians believe. "We must win, without any compromise, if we wish to survive as free peoples."

Japs May Work On Alberta Farms

CALGARY (CP)—Possibility of bringing Japanese from British Columbia to work on Alberta farms, as a means of relieving an acute labor shortage is being investigated by the U.F.A., Robert Gardiner, president, said here.

"There is not even enough labor in the province at the present time to put up the hay crop," Mr. Gardiner said. "What are we going to do when we start harvesting the grain crop?"

"The Japs look like the best bet," he continued. "There are prejudices against these people, but it looks like we will have to use them. From information I have received from beet growers in southern Alberta, I understand they are well satisfied. They find the Japs splendid workmen."

He Spoke From the Heart

MUCH IN MR. CORDELL HULL'S FINE speech last night was directed to the peoples of the totalitarian countries as well as to the peoples of the United Nations. It was the type of pronouncement the world had expected from one who years ago understood and persistently warned against national and international practices—social and economic—which ignored all the danger signals. He indulged in no flights of oratory; from start to finish he drove home truths which drew their inspiration from deeply-rooted conviction.

Our neighbor's Secretary of State did not minimize the task confronting the democratic coalition; he knows as well as we do better than most that the prerequisite for the establishment of a new order in which freedom and decency shall be the paramount condition of life is the complete destruction, root and branch, of a system which the three aggressor powers are seeking to fasten on the whole world. But this will not be sufficient to guarantee permanence to re-established sanity and normal intercourse between nation and nation. Nor did he waste time or words on what might have been if the world's first experiment in settling international disputes by arbitration had succeeded. On the other hand, however, he was emphatic in his urgent advocacy of a new and supreme effort to profit by the mistakes of the past and build accordingly.

Mr. Hull's first glimpse of the postwar world embraces international co-operation in every progressive aspect of that term. He wants and demands, as do all sane folk, a substantial reduction of the barriers to the exchange of goods and services, the ultimate reduction of armaments, the establishment of an international court of justice, interchange of national currencies at stable rates, and other policies that will be necessary to improve the social and economic status of the whole of mankind.

Those in this and other countries who still cling to the idea that the cessation of hostilities will be merely the prelude to the restoration of the status quo should mark well Mr. Hull's references to the type of economic nationalism which ran riot between the first Great War and that which has engulfed the world. Nor would Mr. Hull place all the blame for the present conflict on the shoulders of those who have persistently worshipped at the shrine of special privilege. But this is a people's war with all its implications—and the natural corollary of the peace must be justice for everybody. The world that existed prior to Sept. 3, 1939, is merely recall. The hope of the future lies in Mr. Hull's social and economic philosophy—in its broadest application by all the nations, individually and collectively.

'Get Tough'

WAR HAS SHED ITS REMAINING vestiges from the days of knightlyhood. Any illusions as to the extent of the psychological change which has been under way during recent months, are removed by a book entitled "Get Tough," written by Captain W. E. Fairbairn, a teacher of the British Commandos. It is an outline of the manly art of self-preservation as practiced by the toughest fighting men in the world today, and now taught to our own men at the various training centres. If such a book had been put out four years ago, it would have been howled off the market.

Captain Fairbairn proceeds on the theory that the best way of whipping an opponent is to put him in the condition in which he cannot fight. To him, even in his gentlest moments, this involves at the very least breaking a few bones, and going on from there to methods even less gentle. The man on the ground to him is the man who can be stamped to death in short order.

Ostensibly, "Get Tough" was written as a textbook for the armed forces. The fact that it is going on public sale indicates it makes an appeal to the muscle-minded civilian as well as to the soldier. Its message could with benefit be translated into every phase of our war effort. Our enemies have stripped war of whatever remained to it of gentlemanliness, and whether we like it or not we must get equally tough to save ourselves.

Opposition to Gandhi

NOBODY WOULD BE SO FOOLISH AS to suggest that Mahatma Gandhi has lost his hold over a large section of the people of India. But there are many signs of incipient revolt against the old fashion of accepting everything he does without question. Hitherto, as Sir Robert Holland says, the former leader of the Congress Party has attracted the veneration of India's millions, owing to "his ascetic life and his lofty ideals." It is that knowledge which has prompted the militant politicians within the organization to capitalize his influence in the movement to abolish British authority.

Only last Monday, incidentally, the United Provinces Liberal Association adopted a resolution disapproving Mr. Gandhi's plan to start a campaign of civil disobedience at this stage. Indeed, anti-Fascist rallies are stirring whole communities in various parts of the country; and forces that not long ago were belligerently anti-British have begun to recognize the stark fact that nothing but an all-out war effort will be sufficient to meet the common enemy. Point has been given to this changed outlook by the assumption that new arrival of Japanese reinforcements in Burma is the prelude to an attack on Calcutta at the psychological moment. And it is significant to note that, consequent upon the government of India's lifting of the prohibition on their party's operations, the Communists of the province of Bengal—with a population of more than 50,000,000—have reminded the advocates of "nonviolent nonco-operation" that a practical method of achieving their independence would be to adopt a realistic policy and actively assist in thwarting the enemy while there is still time to do it effectively. This is wise counsel; the Japanese are not in the least interested in Mr. Gandhi's "ascetic life" or his "lofty ideals."

Another movement designed to unify India and to replace dangerous fanaticism with operative realism was the appeal of Mr. Rajagopalachariar—a former member of the Congress Working Committee, but who was forced out of its councils because of his advocacy of a practical approach to the problem—for co-operation between the Congress and the Muslim League. His plan was a body of five members from each organization to sit down together and work out a settlement. As a former Prime Minister of Madras province, of course, Mr. Rajagopalachariar spoke with authority. His influence has been substantially strengthened, moreover, by the announcement of the president of the All-India Peasants' Conference that Mr. Gandhi's program "would not only amount to an invitation to Japan, but would result in country-wide anarchy."

In other words, the establishment of a National government—as proposed by Sir Stafford Cripps—first to meet the enemy hammering at the gates, and second to bring about national unity, is a procedure to which the Mahatma should lend his support if he is genuinely solicitous for India's welfare and India's orderly development in the future.

Going Strong in 1942

WHEN WILL THE BISHOPS OPEN Joanna Southcott's box? The Panacea Society of Bedford, England, asks this question regularly in a five-inch advertisement appearing in one of London's widely-read weeklies. It bears a standard heading: "A Petition to the Episcopate." The document so entitled has been reprinted, by request, for the general public, and those who require information and a free copy may write to the society and learn what the Bishops were told about the Box in 1930.

Far be it from us to cast any reflection on the "sealed writings" of Joanna; but to expect serious consideration of the product of a religious fanatic who has been dead 128 years—especially in times like these—is about as sensible as trying to fool the public with the hoary "Spanish Prisoner" yarn. Those who are familiar with the story will recall that when this Devonshire lass was 42 years of age—old enough to know better—she persuaded herself she was possessed of supernatural gifts and began to write and dictate prophecies in rhyme; and then announced herself as the woman spoken of in Revelations XII. When over 60 she affirmed that she would be delivered of Shiloh on October 19, 1814; but Shiloh failed to put in an appearance and she died of a brain disease 10 days after the date of her predicted deliverance. She left a locked box with instructions for it to be opened by all the Bishops at a time of national crisis.

So Joanna Southcott's Box was opened in 1928—with no crisis in the presence of one of the Bishops, and it was found to contain nothing of importance at all. But her followers at one time numbered more than 100,000. If the advertisement we have referred to means anything at all, the society is still in funds—not, perhaps, by way of legacy from the thousands of guineas collected when she began to "seal" the elect away back in the waning years of the 18th century. She had some business acumen. One trusting soul, a lady named Essam, however, left large sums of money for the printing of "The Sacred Writings of Joanna Southcott." But how does Hitler's intuition react to the "Petition to the Episcopate?"

No Compliment to Russia

IT IS TO BE HOPED OUR PEOPLE ARE not being influenced by radio commentators who have conceived the extraordinary idea that our valiant Russian allies are exaggerating the seriousness of their plight on the southeastern region for the express purpose of hastening the establishment of a second land front in continental Europe. One broadcast last night was emphatic on this point. It is a dangerous type of wishful thinking which belongs to another day. The progress of the battle for the Don and the Volga is clearly pictured in reliable dispatches from the fighting areas. One has only to study the map, reflect on comments in Russian newspapers, to understand how serious the situation so obviously is. And to suggest that the Moscow government is a party to alarmist reports to serve the purpose we have indicated is to discount the effectiveness of the co-operation between the Russian and British and United States governments.

If the rest of the conversation is "where did you have them last?" someone has mislaid the sugar ration cards.

Ottawa says instructions have been given to remove all Japanese from the protected areas on the B.C. coast "as speedily as possible." Why not remove them right away?

Two Years Ago

IN THE DARK DAYS of June, 1940, when British boats had brought men from the beaches of Dunkerque, and the military might of France came toppling unexpectedly down, the roads of France choked with fleeing refugees, and a government at Bordeaux tricked a country into surrender, a strong voice was heard on the air, the voice of a soldier and a leader who refused to accept defeat as he refused to share the belief that Britain within a fortnight would be down and out.

It was General de Gaulle who spoke, and this was the famous message he addressed to his countrymen on the night of June 18, 1940:

"To all Frenchmen. France has lost a battle! But France has not lost the war! A makeshift government may have capitulated, giving way to panic, forgetting honor, delivering their country into slavery. Yet nothing is lost!

"Nothing is lost, because this war is a world war. In the free universe immense forces have not yet been brought into play. Some day these forces will crush the enemy. On that day France must be present at the victory. She will then regain her liberty and her greatness.

"That is my goal, my only goal! That is why I ask all Frenchmen, wherever they may be, to unite with me in sacrifice and in hope.

"Our country is in danger of death. Let us fight to save it.

"Long live France!"

FRENCHMEN HEARD THE CALL. Out of almost nothing an army was built up, and today the men of Free France have washed out the stain of defeat by their bravery at Bir Hakeim, where they smashed the attacks of an over-confident enemy.

The appeal was accompanied by a talk to his countrymen, in which General de Gaulle said:

"It is the tanks, the planes, the tactics of the Germans which, far more than their numbers, force us to withdraw. It is the tanks, the planes, the tactics of the Germans which have taken our leaders so much by surprise and placed them in the present position. But, has the last word been said? Must hope be abandoned? Is the defeat final? No! Believe me, I who speak to you with full knowledge of the facts and who tell you that nothing is lost for France. For France is not alone. She can form a block with the British Empire which rules the seas and is continuing the fight. Like England, she can make unlimited use of the immense industry of the United States. This war is not confined within the borders of our unhappy country. This war is not lost or won by the battle of France. Today we are overwhelmed by mechanical force; tomorrow we can conquer by superior mechanical force."

BIR HAKEIM, where the Free French beat off Italian and German attacks, indignantly replying to six demands for surrender, is being talked about in every French home. The news is known throughout France thanks to the BBC broadcasts.

Every detail of this engagement, the first on a large scale in which French have faced Germans since June, 1940, has been told to the French people, not only by broadcasters but by Frenchmen who regularly keep France informed of every action intended to bring freedom to Europe.

General Legentilhomme, Commissioner for War in the French National Committee, told his countrymen in a broadcast from London that since June, 1940, on land, on sea and in the air, the real France had never ceased to fight and add glorious names to the victories already inscribed on the standards of the French army. In 1940, at Tobruk, in 1941, at Kouffra, Gub-Gub, Keron, Massawa, taking thousands of Italian prisoners, the real France showed the fighting spirit of the great race was not dead.

"At this hour," said General Legentilhomme, "the whole world has learned of our exploits, and the name of General Koening, the young general of 43, will cause Alsatian hearts everywhere to beat with pride. Under his command, soldiers from France and from the Empire, from Africa to the Pacific, have given proof that under leaders worthy of the name they remain true to their glorious past. The name of Bir Hakeim, yesterday unknown, will be written in letters of gold in our military annals."

"In the eyes of the Vichy government, we, the Free French, are only rebels, condemned to death in our absence by its military tribunals, but the rebels that we are look to the people of France for their final verdict when they return, bearing their laurels of victory, to their own land freed again."

GEMS OF THOUGHT—MORAL STRENGTH

"In conduct do not make trifles of trifles. Regard the smallest action as being either right or wrong, and make a conscience of little things."—Spurgeon.

"From lack of moral strength empires fall. Right alone is irresistible, permanent, eternal."—Mary Baker Eddy.

"Those love truth best who to themselves are true. And what they dare to dream of, dare to do."—Lowell.

"I am not bound to win, but I am bound to be true. I am not bound to succeed, but I am bound to live up to the light I have."—Lincoln.

"Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey: whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?"—The Bible.

A SUITABLE TERM

From Chattanooga Times
It is now reported that Australians have decided that they will call the American soldier "buddy," as the solution to something which was becoming a problem. For a while, "Yankees" was considered—it being a combination of Yankee and Anzac. It did not sound so pleasant to the ear.

There was a tendency to call the American guests "Yanks," but some of the doughboys protested, one declaring "I am a Southerner, and I am not a Yankee. I am a rebel." Of course, if the Australian had said, "All right rebel," the Southerner might have countered, "Don't call me rebel! I am a Confederate."

So, the name now being used is "buddy." It is a simplification of a noble word—brother—and it is a proper word for Australians and Americans to use towards each other. Destiny seems, in this all-deciding 20th century, to be forcing them into a relationship which was already theirs by ties of blood.

NO SHOCK TROOPS ALLOWED

From Montreal Gazette
The New York City Council has placed on its law books a measure prohibiting persons over 12 years of age from appearing on any street, except close to a beach or park property, in a bathing suit, shorts, halter or sun suit. This at the request of civic organizations along Rockaway Peninsula in Queens, where bathers strolling through streets and shops in scanty attire have scandalized the burghers. Anyone in beach clothes must, if they stroll from the waterside, wear "a wrap or covering which shall conceal that portion of the wearer's body extending from the shoulders to a point midway between the hips and knees."

LONG DUCK FLIGHTS

From Canadian Resources Bulletin
The long-distance flights of two pintail ducks from the southern United States to the Canadian Arctic, a distance of more than 2,000 miles, is revealed by bird-banding recovery records received recently by the Department of Mines and Resources. The birds were recovered near Queen Maud Gulf on the Arctic Ocean by an Eskimo named Oho-kak, and subsequent investigation of the officially-numbered bands they wore showed that one of the ducks had been banded in California in the spring of 1933 and the other had been marked in Kansas in 1937.

THE WAR—25 YEARS TODAY

(By the Canadian Press)
July 24, 1917—Russians lost great stores of munitions when German armies forced their way across the Sereth River. Military Service Act passed third reading at Ottawa by vote of 101 to 44. British House asked for credit of $650,000,000.

Stabilizers which keep guns on an even keel, while the tank on which they are mounted bounces rough ground, are hydraulically operated.

Mackenzie King Quotes Audrey Alexandra Brown

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King concluded his speech on third reading of the government's conscription-enabling bill in the House of Commons Thursday night with a quotation taken from a book by Miss Audrey Alexandra Brown, British Columbia author.

He said Miss Brown was born in Nanaimo and now lives in Victoria. The words he read were "words to take into the hearts of all of us, exception none."

The quotation was as follows: "There is no place for separatism and dissension among us now, if there ever was. For it is plain that mankind has come to the crossroads. It is easy to cast back to Genghis Khan or the dark ages and declare that nothing is happening now which did not happen then. It is easy, it is comforting, and it is a lie.

"Certainly, brutality and force are not new among men. It has always been true that, as the psalms have it, the dark places of the earth are full of the habitations of cruelty. Men who are little more than savages can be expected to behave as beasts.

"But never before in history has a nominally civilized, a nominally Christian nation deliberately made the profession 'evil, be thou my God.'

"This war is unlike all other wars, for the deformed monstrosities that sheltered in darkness have crawled out of that darkness and openly challenged the world for the possession of its soul; they no longer fight under cover, they flaunt in steel. For Germany to win this war would not mean merely a redrawing of boundaries or a shift in sovereignty. It would mean the destruction of the free spirit of man."

Miss Audrey Alexandra Brown has been a resident at the Y.W.C.A. in Victoria for some years. In answer to a question by a Times reporter this morning, Miss Brown stated that the quotation used by the Prime Minister was from a speech which she gave before the Canadian Authors' Association at its national convention held in Vancouver last year. In response to many requests, the speech was subsequently published in pamphlet form by MacMillan's, for circulation privately among the members of the association.

James Larson, R.C.A.F., will take place Aug. 1, was the guest of honor when Miss Sadie Craig, Chandler Avenue, entertained at a miscellaneous shower Monday evening. The gifts were presented in a prettily decorated pink box, and the supper table was presided over by Mrs. F. E. Shore and Mrs. James Strong. It was covered with a Madeira cloth and the centerpiece was a miniature rose arbor with an air force bride party. Ivory tapers were placed in crystal holders. Assisting in serving refreshments were the Misses Doreen Crowe and Joyce Woodburn. The other guests were Mesdames O. A. Craig, Harry Ord, James M. Roy, Ainsworth, Fearon Woodburn, Ralph Strong, H. A. Bentley, 3005 Quadra Street, in honor of Miss Gladys Hawthorne, whose marriage to Corporal Ralph Blitener takes place on Aug. 1. The guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. G. Hawthorne, received corsage bouquets of white and pink gladioli. The gifts were presented from the fireplace, against a screen of red, white and blue crepe paper. Sweet peas and gladioli were arranged throughout the room. The supper table was covered with a white linen tablecloth, centred with sweet peas and lighted by tall pink tapers, the motif being miniature soldiers and small military flags. Games and contests were played and enjoyed. The invited guests were: Mesdames Arnold, C. Richardson, Aspinwall, Graves, C. Hutton, Rhodes, M. Parlee and the Misses G. Hawthorne, H. Gallop, M. Cooper, E. Aspinwall, K. and D. Hutton and Messrs E. Bentley, C. Richardson and Master R. Bentley.

William Paterson. On entering the bride-to-be was presented with a corsage of pink carnations and sweet peas. Corsages were also presented to Mrs. Green, mother of the bride, and Mrs. Paterson, mother of the groom. A wishing well of pink and blue concealed the many useful gifts. During the evening games were played, prizes being won by Miss Emily Philpot and Mrs. W. Humphrey. A vase of assorted flowers centred the table, which was decorated with pink and blue streamers, from which a buffet supper was served. Invited guests were Mesdames T. Green, T. Paterson, E. Orr, W. Complimentary to Miss Gwen Fouracre, whose marriage to Mr. Jack Qudmore will take place on Aug. 4, a rainbow shower was held on Monday evening at the home of Mrs. T. Fulthorpe, 447 Kingston Street. The bride-to-be, her mother, Mrs. A. Fouracre, and the groom's mother, Mrs. J. C. Qudmore, were presented with corsage bouquets. During the evening the guest of honor was handed several poems, with clues for a treasure hunt for several of her gifts, which when arranged formed a pretty rainbow. At the end of the evening, she found a "pot of gold" hidden under the funnel of a model steamboat. The guessing competition was won by Mrs. R. Campbell. Refreshments were served later by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames A. Clark and A. Sartin, and the Misses D. Crowe, G. Fouracre, H. Fraser, R. Huxley and R. Gibson. Other guests included Mesdames J. ## Weddings

HICKEY—MILNER

A former Victoria newspaperman was the bridegroom at an evening wedding in Crosby United Church, Vancouver, Wednesday at which Jeanette Antoinette Milner became the bride of John David Hickey. Rev. R. W. Hardy read the 8 o'clock service for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Milner, who live in France, and the son of the late Capt. and Mrs. Patricia J. Hickey of Victoria.

The crisp daintiness of clear white Swiss embroidery posed over shining satin enhanced the dark beauty of the bride. Misty lengths of net veiling swept out from a tiny-pleated halo of net. She carried a shower of gardenias and swainsons.

Three attendants preceded the bride up the aisle. Mrs. Edwin Selbould was matron of honor for her sister, in a diaphanous water green marquisette frock with lace inserts, headdress of gardenias and carrying carnations. The two maids were Misses Thelma Klummons and June Hickey, the groom's niece, in aqua blue and pink frocks to match the bride's and gardenias in their hair. They both carried Tulleman roses and gladioli.

Flying Officer Robert M. Williams was best man for the groom, and Mr. Wallace Gillespie and the groom's brother, Capt. R. J. Hickey, were ushers. Mr. Edgar Sunderland gave the bride in marriage.

A reception was held later at the Connaught room of Hotel Georgia, with Mrs. R. J. Hickey as hostess. Following a wedding trip the couple will make their home on West Thirty-third Ave., Vancouver, the groom being a member of the staff of the Vancouver Sun. When saying goodbye after the reception the bride was wearing a flight blue suit of softest wool and postilion-veiled hat in chamomile tone to match her accessories. Her corsage was of gardenias.

LUDDITT—JOHNSON

A quiet ceremony Friday evening in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Vancouver, united in marriage Stella, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. W. Johnson, 2063 Marston Street, Victoria, formerly of Regina, Sask., to Mr. Benjamin Charles Ludditt of Barkerville, B.C. Rev. W. C. Daniels of the R.C.A.F. officiated.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss May Johnson. Mr. Leonard Head was best man. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Ludditt will reside at 1925 Tenth Avenue, Vancouver.

HUNTER—SHEPHERD

At the First United Church Friday evening at 8, Rev. Thomas Menzies united in marriage Ruth Eileen, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Shepherd, 1641 Fell Street, and Mr. David Bernard Hunter, youngest son of Capt. J. Hunter, 3225 Alder Street, and the late Mrs. Hunter.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of pale blue eyelet sheer with a yoke and short sleeves of plain sheer, wore long mittens of eyelet sheer, and a matching blue chapel veil caught into clusters of pink and blue forget-me-nots on her head. She carried a shower bouquet of butterfly roses and swainsons.

Mr. H. Rowland, the matron of honor, wore a full-skirted frock of palest pink lace with a tiny hat of fresh blue scabious and sweetheart roses, and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and sweet peas with blue scabious. Mr. Frank Hunter supported his brother, and Mr. Norman Shepherd and Capt. James Hunter, Vancouver, brothers of the couple, were ushers. As the register was being signed, Mr. James McVie sang "The Lord's Prayer."

A reception was held in the Royal Bank Hall, the young couple standing between baskets of flowers. Mrs. Shepherd received the guests in a Queen's blue and white redingote dress with white accessories and a corsage bouquet of roses. A buffet supper was served and lighted white tapers flanked the cake which centred the bride's table. For a honeymoon on the mainland, the bride left in a hyacinth blue dress and hat with beige accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter will make their home in Victoria.

Need Blood of Five For One Wounded

The blood of five donors is required for the treatment of one wounded person. Britain has requested 50,000 pints and the Canadian Red Cross is endeavoring to secure this at the 26 blood donor clinics it has established throughout Canada.

Dr. C. H. Best, Toronto, who helped develop the dried-blood method of transfusion states: "We did not rightly know what happened when a person suffered shock, or what to do about curing it. We now know that shock puts a part of the body—the part where a bruise, a gunshot wound, or a severe burn occurs—completely out of commission. Circulation stops in that area, and blood water, required to nourish the red and white corpuscles, begins to leak from the blood vessels into the body tissue, where the value of its proteins is lost. This serum simply renews the supply of shock a fighting chance to overcome it and make a general recovery."

These are interesting facts gleaned from an article "Mercy in Cold Blood," by Jack Mosher in last week's Liberty.

Juvenile Daughters of England, Princess Margaret Rose, met recently in S.O.E. Hall, Miss F. Vincent in the chair. Plans were made for a garden party to be held on Tuesday, Aug. 11, at Mrs. R. McVie's, 922 Lyall Street, Esquimalt, at 2.30 p.m. Miss F. Vincent, convener. Stallholders: F. E. Howe and Julia Clements, home cooking; G. M. Baker, bingo; F. Vincent, needlework; Marjorie Fyfe, miscellaneous; afternoon-tea; Mrs. R. McVie and Mrs. L. Watt.

For SURE RESULTS in JAM and JELLY

MAKING USE CERTO

You'll Get Up To
Two-Thirds More
Jam or Jelly
From the Same
Amount of Fruit

CERTO Saves You Time and Work—No Fuss or Failures

QUICK, EASY—For making jam with Certo you give only a one-minute to two-minute full, rolling boil—for jelly only a half-minute to a minute.

ECONOMICAL—So little juice has time to boil away that you get up to two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

BETTER TASTE AND COLOR—The boil is so short it does not affect the natural taste or color of the fresh fruit.

SPLENDID RESULTS—Follow exactly the recipes you get with Certo and you'll always have good results.

CERTO is Pectin Extracted from Fruit

When pectin is used in making jam or jelly, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board Order No. 150 allows you to use sugar not in excess of one and one-quarter pounds of sugar for each pound of fruit. On the basis that "fruit" means "unprepared" fruit, this allows you to make your jams and jellies the Certo way which gives you approximately two-thirds more jam or jelly from the same amount of fruit.

St. Joseph's to Open New Wing to Nurses' Home

St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing will on Monday afternoon hold the formal opening of its new five-story fireproof, reinforced concrete wing for the accommodation of an increased staff of graduate and student nurses. For some years the main nurses' residence, with rooming accommodation for 140, has been altogether inadequate to house the growing staff. The new structure, started in the fall of 1941, will fill a very definite need.

In recognition of the memory of the late Mrs. Angus Campbell, for many years a benefactor of the hospital and a special friend of the nurses, her final bequest in favor of the hospital formed the nucleus of the new building. Other gifts included generous donations from Mrs. A. Nolte, in memory of her husband; from Mr. John Dean, Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Palne, Mr. Harry Maynard, Mr. Lawrence Genge, Mayo Singh and other grateful patients and friends.

The three upper floors are given over entirely to sleeping quarters—38 private and 14 semi-private rooms, with beautiful views over Beacon Hill Park. The ground floor is given over to the teaching department and instructors' offices, and in the central section is a beautiful little students' chapel.

Building construction on the new section was started Oct. 3, 1941, with Harry Whittaker, provincial architect, and Archie Sullivan, contractor, in charge. With the wartime ban on brick for building purposes, the new structure was built of reinforced concrete throughout. The natural grey of the interior has been retained to match as close as possible the grey brick of the original unit. As the new section is built to form one with the old, the main entrance remains the same on Rupert Street.

view of the exterior of the new addition, while below is a view of the science laboratory, with which the new classroom floor is connected, and which has been rearranged and equipped for biology, anatomy, physiology, bacteriology and organic and biochemistry classes.

The public will be welcomed at Monday's ceremony.

Well-known Women As Stallholders At Gala Fete

All arrangements for the grand garden gala which is being held by kind permission of His Hon. the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. W. C. Woodward in Government House grounds on Wednesday, Aug. 12, are now well in hand, Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, convener, reports.

The convener for that most important stall, ice cream, is Mrs. Norman A. Yarrow, who will be assisted by the Sooke, Metchoin and James Bay Red Cross units.

The mysterious thousand pockets stall is in the capable hands of Mrs. J. W. Lennox, Mrs. E. E. Henderson and Mrs. Lennox-Irving, assisted by the Red Cross units of Brentwood, Belmont and the Empress Hotel, also the Daughters of Rebekah, and Mrs. E. D. Todd. The flower stall is being convenered by Mrs. H. Beaven assisted by the Oak Bay Red Cross unit.

The candy stall, where delectable dainties of all kinds will be sold, will be managed by Mrs. R. D. McCaw, Mrs. J. W. Benning, Mrs. M. F. Driscoll and Mrs. G. W. C. Bisset, assisted by Red Cross units of the Civil Servants, Metropolitan, Bank Street, Emmaus, Mrs. Manning's, St. Joseph's Junior W.A. and Bank of Nova Scotia.

GIFT STALL
Princess Chikhmatoff, Mrs. J. W. Spencer and Mrs. Reid Paige Clark are in charge of the gift stall where the world and his wife can buy those charming souvenirs and trinkets that will be kept and prized as mementos of people's day at Government House.

Fruit and vegetables, sweet and fresh, from the gardens, orchards and farms in Victoria and the surrounding countryside will be found in the stall being convenered by Miss F. Fitzgibbon, assisted by Red Cross units of Lake Hill, the Gorge, Sidney, Cordova Bay, Columbia, Royal Oak and the Pythian Sisters.

Among the amusements and attractions which will have such a strong appeal to children of all ages, young and old, and which have already been definitely arranged for, may be mentioned fortune-telling, peep into the mysterious future, convener, Mrs. T. A. Rickard; candid camera, see yourself as you actually are, convener, Mrs. F. E. Winslow; pony rides, in charge of Mrs. R. H. Tye; golf putting, convener Mrs. Hew Paterson; hot dogs, Miss Ruth Maclean, and golf under the direction of Mr. Phil Taylor, the popular pro.

No garden party or fair could possibly be a success unless the children could have their colored balloons. These will be obtained from Miss Kathleen Johnston.

Matchable substances through the mail. They said that persons who mailed matches or lighter fluid overseas were endangering Canadian lives, ships and vital munitions because such parcels might catch fire in handling.

them, because of import duty collected.

WEIGHT RESTRICTIONS
The limit in weight of parcels for Canadian servicemen in Britain is 11 pounds. The civilian restriction of two pounds weight for any one food does not apply. Canadians serving in the Royal Air Force also are entitled to receive such parcels.

Postal officials said servicemen's parcels should be addressed to the recipients' units.

Parcels up to 11 pounds also can be sent to Canadians serving in British units, provided they are addressed in care of Canadian Auxiliary Services, 6 Dilke St., Chelsea, London, S.W.3, England. Postal officials emphasized that postal regulations prohibit sending matches or other inflamm-

Wants More Women In Parliament But Not Women's Party

LONDON (CP)—Miss Ellen Wilkinson, Labor M.P. for Jar-row, wants more women in Parliament but not just because they're women.

Her words to the National Conference of Labor Women were: "I do not want more women as women in Parliament but women as socialist members. I think a women's party in the House of Commons would be the very devil."

Meantime she cautioned women against being misled by people who say women are not good enough for Parliament, and said anybody believing that should go and listen to the men members of the Commons. Women should choose a good woman to represent them, back her up, and then not get jealous when she is doing well.

Herline of the conference was a Mrs. Pryke, described as the "shock worker of Windsor." A plump, middle-aged little woman wearing a beret, she protested against unequal pay between men and women munitions workers. She knows all about the work women do in factories because she operates two lathes at once on the night shift.

Mrs. Pryke left her factory at 6 a.m., walked three miles home, changed out of her overalls and headed for the conference in London. She told the women it was a "damn shame" they should earn less than men for the same work and then headed back to her job with only a nap in her conference-room chair and 40 winks during her train journey.

Her parting words: "I'm amazed that my strength keeps up."

Must Watch Rations For Gift Parcels Going Overseas

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians may include rationed foods in gift parcels mailed to civilians and servicemen in the United Kingdom, a spokesman for the post office department announced, but certain restrictions on such parcels must be observed. A spokesman for the Wartime Prices and Trade Board said gifts of rationed foods—tea, coffee and sugar—may be mailed as long as they come out of the amount allowed to individual consumers in Canada.

In other words, you may send one-half pound of sugar to brother Tom in the Canadian army in Britain, or to cousin Bill or Aunt Ada living in Britain, if you want to get along with that much less yourself.

Parcel sizes are limited. Gift parcels for civilians must not exceed five pounds in weight, or contain more than two pounds of any one kind of food. But the two-pound limit does not apply to clothing.

These parcels must be "unsolicited," the post office said. That is, they must not have been sent as the result of some prior communication sent to the donor by the recipient.

You can send cigarettes to civilians if you wish, but they are costly to the person who gets

By JIM KEARNEY

GUS Q. PHAN is a loyal chap. He realizes there is a war on and has dropped some of his more impolite habits. At baseball games in Victoria this season, the league has noticed a sharp decline in lost balls, the kind that go into the bleachers. Mr. Phan, thoughtful person, throws them back on to the diamond instead of taking them home to Junior.

In one of the first games of the current season, league secretary Sid Thomas took a dozen new balls out to the park and at the end of the ninth walked out with 15. Figure that one out if you can.

But the baseball shortage is not so acute as the shortage of lacrosse balls, which are made entirely of rubber. The necessary components of a baseball are only horsehide, string and cork.

But out at the lacrosse games, Mr. Phan throws back every ball that comes over the wire. In two and a half months of play only half a dozen of the precious balls have been lost.

Last year the Greater Victoria Lacrosse Association lost almost $100 in balls, which, at the bargain basement price of five for a dollar, totals—let's see, now—oh, figure it out yourself—I always was weak in maths.

As a footnote to this, the owner of one of the city's leading sporting goods establishments told us that the tennis ball situation was no longer acute—just hopeless, that's all.

It seems tennis players prefer English-made balls, and sports goods firms, always in the habit of ordering the English brand, let them down this year when the consignments never came through from the Old Country. Then, on top of that, they had been allowed only 50 per cent of last year's Canadian brand quota.

which has put the lid on the whole shebang.

"Red" Mason, diminutive James Bay lacrosse forward who left in the middle of last season to join the air force, is back in the city on leave with the title Sgt. Pilot in front of his name. "Red" is itching to lay his hands on a lacrosse stick again and would like to get in a couple of games with his old team before he leaves.

Sid Watson, of the Dominions hoopers and Oaks lacrosse team, is wearing a plaster cast from neck to stomach following discovery of a fractured vertebrae after a recent boxla game. Sid can't tie up his shoes or bend in any way. He says it will be like that until September, and on top of the whole thing, he was supposed to go in the air force a week ago.

In that crazy ball game between V.M.D. and R.C.A.F. Flyers, Wednesday evening, a high foul ball hit the V.M.D. bat boy, son of manager Pat Steele, squarely on top of his head. As the kid gamely struggled to his feet, Pat yelled from up the first base line—"I knew it couldn't hurt him, it hit him on the head."

Speech is silver, silence is golden—especially if you have a voice like that of P.O. Norm Barton, manager of the United Services lacrosse team. In their last game with Bays, every time Barton saw a play he didn't like, he yelled louder than a circus barker for a penalty—and the refs took notice. The penalties were given almost every time. He got a laugh out of it.

If stringing a line is music to your ears, you want to get a ring-side seat when Art Chapman, Lester Patrick and Ted Menzies get together. Take our word for it, it's like a symphony orchestra. Good-bye for now!

Pair of Flying Fish

Mike Peppe, centre, is very peppy indeed as he welcomes Bill Smith Jr., right, phenomenal 18-year-old Hawaiian swimmer, to Ohio State University. Kiyoshi Nakama, Buckeye sophomore and another island aquatic star, joins in the greeting. Ohio State coach calls them "world's two greatest free-style swimmers."

Sewell 'Manager of Year'

Browns Surprise All

James Luther (Luke) Sewell, the 41-year-old pilot of the St. Louis Browns, is being spoken of these days as the manager of the year and while this may be premature, it couldn't happen to a nicer guy as the saying goes.

Probably no manager of a fourth-place club ever has been considered for any such recognition before, but it has been a long time since the Browns have been in the first division at this extended stage of the American League pennant race.

The fact that the Browns now not only are in fourth place, but have won 12 of their last 14 contests and are just four games back of the second-place Boston Red Sox, is a glowing tribute to the leadership of the soft-spoken University of Alabama alumnus. Sewell worked five innings Thursday while the Browns went about beating the Philadelphia Athletics 9 to 6. Chet Laabs, who has developed into a star recently, made three hits and Vern (Junior) Stephens, who has developed into one of the outstanding shortstops in the major leagues in one season under Sewell's guidance, contributed a homer.

This happened while the New York Yankees were ending their 11-game winning streak at Cleveland and dropping a full game of their ample lead to all the first division teams in the league. The Yanks had a 2 to 0 lead and big Ernie Bonham was within a whisper of his fifth shutout.

At him as came in the direction of Bryant. The only difference, however, and seemingly an important difference, was that he stopped only 25. Bill was playing a good game, however, because those Oaks were making pretty sure of their shots before they let them go.

Darrell Popham and the ever-present William "Duff" McCaghey led the Oaks scorers with four goals apiece; McCaghey picking up a like number of assists on the side. Marty Turnquist, Oaks' blond-topped defenceman, played one of his best games, setting up his teammates nicely. He got five assists with his two goals.

Freddy Pellow, Ken "Soup" Calverley, Jimmie McKeachie and Tommy Druce were the outstanding Jokers men. They got 10 goals between them and were as active on defence as on the attack, especially that boy Druce, who was stopping the Oaks' forwards all over the floor. He really worked.

Oaks got 17 minutes in penalties, five more than Jokers. Freddy Ranson drew five minutes for wanting to trade fists with Jokers' Ray Douglas after ram-bunctious Ray had smacked him a resounding thwack across the stomach with the wooden guard of his stick.

Teams and scores follow: Oaks—Bryant, Turnquist 2, Michelin, Rhodes 2, Prior 1, Penketh 1, Popham 4, Lea 2, McCaghey 4, Ranson 2, Cunningham 2. Jokers—Andrews, Uttke 1, Mair, Douglas 1, Stewart, Ritson, McKeachie 4, Druce 1, Pellow 3, Scott 1, Davey, Calverley 2. Brown and Brynjolfson refereed.

with two out in the ninth, when Phil Rizzuto made an error to give the Indians an opening.

The Boston Red Sox halted their losing streak by nosing out the Chicago White Sox 5 to 4 with two runs built around Dom DiMaggio's triple in the seventh inning after Joe Cronin and Pete Fox had homered in the fourth. Washington whipped the Detroit Tigers again 5 to 3 for Alex Carrasquel's third triumph within a week. Bob Repass hit a home run in the ninth, but the glory belonged to rookie shortstop Johnny Sullivan, who cleaned the bases with a three-run double in the sixth and then knocked in one run with another two-bagger in the eighth.

In the National League the New York Giants took over undisputed possession of third place by out-homering the Pittsburgh Pirates 6 to 4. Johnny Mize notched his 19th round-tripper of the year with one on in the first inning. Vince DiMaggio hit a three-run homer for Pittsburgh. In the only other contest scheduled, a night affair at Philadelphia the last place Phils knocked off the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, and put them seven games behind the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers.

All-Star Boxla Saturday Night

Saturday night at the Willows Sports Centre an all-star lacrosse team from the other three squads in the league will face the powerful United Services team in a benefit game, the proceeds from which will go to the injured players' fund.

Old man public has been speculating about such a game for some weeks now, ever since the servicemen stamped themselves the class of the league. So the Greater Victoria Box Lacrosse Association decided to see just what this speculation meant, hence the Services against the rest of the league.

At the Sports Centre Thursday night Bob Melnes, Jimmy Smith and Ted Menzies picked the all-star team, which follows: Bill Andrews, Marty Turnquist, Austin Cullin, Arnold Ferguson, Duff McCaghey, Eric Lea, Fred Ranson, Ernie Ball, Fred Pellow, Gib Stevens, Ken Calverley, Andy Ovcharick, Tom McKeachie, Mike Cunningham and Tommy Druce. There will be a special training session at the Sports Centre tonight at 8.

Game time Saturday night will be 8.30 with a prelude between Owl Drug and James Bay at 7. With the proceeds going to the injured players' fund the usual guest and players' passes will be suspended.

NEWARK, N.J.—Danny Rosati, 153, Newark, stopped Mike Piskin, 152, Freehold, N.J. (3).

Official opening will take place at 2 followed by the massed pipe band parade and the track and field events.

The games will be under the patronage of His Honor Col. W. C. Woodward, Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia; Hon. John Hart, Premier of British Columbia; His Worship Mayor A. McGavin, E. W. Hamber, Hon. Herbert Anscomb, Minister of Mines; R. W. Mayhew, M.P.; W. T. Straith, M.L.A., and Maj. J. D. Hunter.

Meet Navy Tonight

Pitzer and Nex and the Navy will be opponents in tonight's senior ball game at the Athletic Park, starting at 6.30. Navy are second-place occupants while the gasmen are a step lower.

Last Saturday Pitzer and Nex came through on the right end of the score in a 10-inning duel with the league-leading V.M.D. and are now anxious to stop the second placers.

Ritchie Nicol or Tommy Musgrave will hurl for the gasmen with Stan Davies expected to get the call in the Navy camp.

Douglas Tire Win

Five-run scoring spurge in the third inning, followed by three more runs in the fourth featured the 15 to 3 victory of the Douglas Tire over the V.M.D. in the B section softball playoffs Thursday night.

Minnis was on the mound for the winners with Wilson starting for the shipyarders to be replaced by Fong in the third.

BOWLING DRAW

RAINIERS SIGN VARSITY CATCHER

SEATTLE (AP)—Desperate for a catching staff replacement, the Seattle baseball management announced today the signing of Emmett Watson, the University of Washington's varsity catcher last spring.

The Rainiers now have only rookie Bill Beard on active duty, and his draft board has ordered him up for a physical examination next week. Bob Collins, the regular receiver, was lost for a predicted 10 days when a foul tip split open a finger Wednesday night.

Name Golfers Cut Par by Five Strokes

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tam o'Shanter golf tournament made considerable sense today for a change, because Byron Nelson and Lawson Little, two of the game's great players, were winging along in front of the field in the $15,000 open event with identical scores of 67—five strokes under par—after the first round of the 72-hole contest.

Nelson, last year's winner here, shot his round early to get the jump on some 135 professionals and a flock of distracted amateurs, who were otherwise wrapped up in their own match-play championship.

Little came in just before dark to tie Nelson. Gib Sellers of Walled Lake, Mich., was right behind the leaders with a 68, while Dick Metz and Clayton Heafner were next at 69. Ben Hogan, the game's consistent money-winner, was in a threatening position with 71.

The amateurs, after two days of furious battle, had reduced themselves to a quartette—Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., the national champion; John Holstrom of Rockford, Ill.; Wilford Wehrle of Racine, Wis., and Mike Stolarik, storekeeper third class, at the Great Lakes naval training station. In the Wehrle met Holstrom and Ward tackled Stolarik.

Two defeated amateurs, Johnny Lehman of Chicago and Pat Abbott of Pasadena, led their compatriots in the open division of the tournament, each having shot a 71 in his first round Thursday.

The negroes, playing in a major tournament for the first time with their white brethren were led by the long-driving Howard Wheeler of Los Angeles, youthful Calvin Searles of New Orleans and Edison Marshall of Indianapolis, Ind., each with 72.

A gallery of nearly 2,000 followed Searles and Wheeler, who played in a threesome with Leonard Dodson, Kansas City pro holder of the team record of 65 and who tied for runner-up in the 1941 tournament. Wheeler caused the crowd to gasp with some drives ranging up to 310 yards. His unorthodox cross-handed grip was puzzling to the spectators, but not to the grinning negro as he watched the hard-driving ball sail toward the greens.

Girl Athlete Arrives

Recent arrival in Victoria where she will take up residence was Annette Seywright, well-known and popular athlete of Zeballos. A star at bowling, badminton, volleyball and softball, she will be a welcome addition to the city's sport fraternity.

She established quite a name for herself at softball, having smacked five home runs so far

Seattle Wins Wild Ball Tilt

The pace of Coast League baseball is mounting. Thursday night at the northern end of the loop, Seattle bested Portland, 14 to 11, in a game which had the fans on the edge of their seats. The Rainiers apparently had the game won by a 6 to 1 margin going into the seventh when they staged a wild rally that added eight runs on seven hits.

Portland retaliated with an eight-run riot in the eighth on six safeties and an error and then went on to score two more tallies in the ninth. Jo-Jo White saved the game for Rainiers with a shoe-string catch of Larry Barton's line drive that came with two out and two on.

Down south, Hollywood fans saw their team halt the league-leading Los Angeles Angels' win streak at 14 games with a 15-hit blast that humbled the Angels, 11 to 1.

Oakland first baseman Les Scarcella poked out a three-run homer in the ninth to give the Oaks an 8 to 7 decision over San Francisco.

The clout was a heart-breaker for the Seals, who had worked up to a 7 to 5 lead in eight innings after they trailed 5 to 0 going into the fifth when they scored three runs.

Sacramento lost a 10-inning game to San Diego, 4 to 2, as Al Olsen beat Kemp Wicker in a hurling duel.

Norvans led all the way with a 4 to 3 advantage at half time when they increased to 8 to 4 at the end of the third quarter. Bill Dickinson and George Nesbitt counted three goals each for the winners while Johnny McDonald scored two to lead Burrards.

Oaklands Win Boxla

Last Quarter Decides

Scoring a mild five goals in each quarter, Oaklands kept the wolf away from the door for three-quarters of Thursday night's boxla fixture, then held

Jokers to a single goal in the final session to win the game, 20 to 13.

Only a scattering of spectators was on hand to witness the game, one of the better displays of the season. Jokers made up for their lack of scoring punch with some quite effective checking, but the running and bullet-like passing plays of Bob McInnes' kid team was more than they could handle. The way those Oaks scored their goals was lovely to watch. Long passing up the floor, a forward breaking from the corner as if he were starting in a 100-yard dash, a pass right to his stick and—boom! That's how they scored three-quarters of their goals. Jokers were showing some of their best lacrosse of the season and were in there scrapping for the rebounds and loose balls all evening. This alertness netted them some fast goals when they needed them.

Paced by their husky first-string rover, Darrell Popham, who, by the way, played his best game of the season, Oaks outscored the opposition five to four in the first quarter. Jokers followed up their lesson of a couple of games ago and were shooting prolifically at the Oaklands' goal, banking on the law of averages, a pretty safe procedure.

GOAL FOR GOAL

In the second quarter the teams shot goal for goal. Jokers' first line of Pellow, Calverley, Douglas, McKeachie, Druce and Scott functioned well and supplied most of the opposition for the Oaks. Score at half-time was 10 to 9 for Oaklands.

In the second half the eventual losers started their old procedure of foosening up on their checks, and Oaks began to pull ahead. They got the jump early in the quarter and took a comfortable three-goal lead which they never relinquished and eventually proved upon. Score at the end of the third quarter was 15 to 12, and it was still a close ball game.

But in the final quarter Bob McInnes' lads checked the Jokers dizzy and always well from their goal, which gave pinch-hitting goalie Joe Bryant a chance to shine. Joe, taking the place of out-of-town Jimmie Taylor, played a steady game between the pipes and scintillated in the final stages of the game. He stopped 32 shots.

Copper Bill Andrews at the other end was a busy man all night and queerly enough had the same number of shots thrown picture is now being shot, cannot say enough for the co-operation he has received from Canadian officials.

"It means a lot to us and may mean a lot to your people. With set equipment so difficult to secure, you should get more moving picture companies up here. Your inland waters should be in demand. In Hollywood we can no longer get Catalina Island. That's taken over by the military, and we haven't much else to choose from for that type of scene.

"Canadian location helps us another way, too. The movie-going public is used to the real thing in war pictures. They see the newsreels. We can't give them a manufactured set in a feature. That makes us highly pleased with the co-operation of the forces here."

REALIZES DREAM

Coming to this part of Canada is the realization of a dream for Mr. Cowan.

"My wife and I had planned to come up. But she had to go to New York to work on 'Count Me In,' a musical production for which she is writing the music."

Mrs. Cowan is Ann Ronell, who brightened the radio world with the merry nonsense of "Who's Afraid of the Big Bad Wolf?" among other hit numbers.

is not limited to gratitude for services rendered. Two minutes after he arrived he was asking about a swimming pool, a tennis court, and somewhere to fish. "I feel like cheating on the job. Maybe I can steal a few hours," he remarked.

The picture he is producing, rated by Columbia as top grade, marks the first major location movement in Hollywood this year. It is the first time a company has gone outside U.S. borders on location since the country went to war.

LUCKY PRODUCTION

Apart from the difficulties of communication, everything has been lucky for production to date.

"It's a remarkable coincidence the man I picked to direct the picture was so pleased with the territory. He's been touting it down in Hollywood long enough."

Mr. Cowan said as he referred to Lieut.-Commander John Farrow. "There's a young man who's going right to the top," he added. Mr. Cowan left the management of the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences some time ago to become an independent producer. His latest success was the film, "Ladies in Retirement."

May Still Volunteer

Men called up for compulsory service may still enlist in the Canadian Active Army as volunteers, says Capt. S. H. Okell, district recruiting officer for the Vancouver area.

Referring to physically fit men between the ages of 20 and 40 Capt. Okell said:

"Many of these men seem still to be under the impression that after receiving a call they are not eligible to volunteer for the Active Army. I would like to dispel this impression and would advise all concerned to get in touch with their nearest recruiting sergeant to learn the advantage and opportunities offered by the Active Army.

"All applications should be submitted in plenty of time to receive consideration before the actual date of call."

Canadians Reopen Cornwall Tin Mines

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—The Royal Canadian Engineers are reopening the ancient Cornish tin mines whose history goes back to the time of the Romans. A detachment of tunneling company sappers led by Lieut. A. O.

Ames of Winnipeg, who worked on military projects in England and Gibraltar, has been stationed for several weeks in the rugged, rolling hills of Cornwall. The need of tin from these old mines became more urgent with the fall of Malaya, and the Canadians, all miners in peacetime, were called in. Now they are prospecting for tin and working down in old decayed shafts. One mine was operated on a large scale from 1838 until 1930, when it was closed. The Canadians are preparing it for production again. Canadian mine equipment is used in this work. One old Cornishman who worked in the mines for 50 years and knows the tin veins and mine passages is aiding the engineers. Lieut. Ames worked in gold mines in Canada, and was in Fiji on a mining project when the war began. He returned to Canada and joined the R.C.E.

YOUR JOB: does it keep you jumping?

HE SELLS SHOES—can't afford the logy, short-tempered feeling often resulting from too little exercise, incomplete elimination. He keeps fit. Yet he takes no harsh cathartics.

HE RUSHES MUNITIONS PLANS—no chance for exercise. He too makes sure of needed "bulk" in his diet, eats delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes every morning.

Don't let lack of exercise get you down!

Don't let a headachy, listless feeling make you slow, short-tempered. If your job is wearing, yet gives you little chance for healthful exercise, these very symptoms of incomplete elimination may hamper you. To avoid them, follow these two rules of health: (1) To get well, see your doctor; (2) To keep well, watch your habits! Make sure you keep the food wastes moving promptly. But no harsh cathartics! Instead, get plenty of needed "bulk" in your diet. Eat delicious Kellogg's Bran Flakes With Other Parts Of Wheat. Gently laxative, Kellogg's Bran Flakes help supply valuable minerals and proteins too. And they're so crisp and satisfying, you'll want to eat them every morning in the year. Start tomorrow. Get the golden-yellow package from your grocer. Comes in two convenient sizes. In restaurants, order the individual package with the inner, WAXTITE, sealed bag. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

KEEP FIT WITH KELLOGG'S

every day in the year!

"DIRECTING PEOPLE TO THE RIGHT AISLE is really not much exercise. Yet handling crowds with a smile takes lots of energy. I can't let myself feel depressed, listless or short-tempered. I have to keep fit. Here's my way: No nasty doses. Instead, I watch my habits, make sure of getting plenty of "bulk" in my diet. I eat a bowl of crunchy, mildly laxative Kellogg's Bran Flakes every day. They certainly help to keep me on my toes."

Escaped Borneo When Japs Came

A saga of the southern seas lived by a mild-mannered gospel minister, his wife and two children, was told today by Rev. J. W. Mouw, American-born missionary, who escaped from Borneo less than two jumps ahead of the invading Japs.

Mr. Mouw, who is visiting Rev. F. M. Landis of the Gospel Tabernacle, was stationed in Central Borneo close to the borders of the Dutch and British territory when word came that the Japs had invaded Malaya, captured Singapore and were swinging on to the Celebes, Sumatra, Java and Bali, all of which surround Borneo.

When the invaders landed on the east coast of Borneo and sent a sea-borne force round to the west coast, Mr. Mouw thought it time to get away and with his wife and two children set out in a tiny launch down a river to the southwest coast. No ship was available at the sea coast and word came that the Japs were approaching. They took to the river again and turned down a tributary to another port, the Japs meanwhile having reached their originally-planned exit six hours after they left.

MISSING JAPS

At their new port they found a Chinese-sailing junk and set out for Java, this time only three hours before the Japs came.

Meanwhile the bloody battle of

Macassar Straits had been fought with scores of Jap ships going to the bottom and the Celebes being invested.

In the Chinese ship they took four nights and three days to travel the 400 miles to Java with nothing to eat but polished rice and a little fat pork. A storm, however, breaking the second day out, destroyed their appetite for food only Mr. Mouw's 10-year-old son enjoying the trip because, he said, "there's no school and I don't have to keep clean."

They travelled across Java looking for a ship, under almost constant bombardment from Jap airplanes, and finally found one at Bali. With Jap bombs still falling they waited two days on the ship in harbor until she slipped away only half loaded through the Sundian Straits and into the open Pacific bound for Australia.

They cruised for 62 days, zig-zagging and travelling in total blackout, missing collision with a freighter one night by only 30 feet. Five ships in a convoy of 11 following them were torpedoed and sunk.

Mr. Mouw and his family reached New Orleans 10 weeks ago and he has since been engaged in a travel and lecture tour. He speaks at the Gospel Tabernacle Sunday three times, at 11, 3 and 7.30.

George Elliott, 274 Fifth Street, was treated for a deep cut over his left eye at the Jubilee Hospital Thursday, after his bicycle had been in a collision, at Douglas and Discovery Streets, with a truck driven by Eric T. Wore, 533 Yates Street. He was attended by Dr. E. L. McNiven.

Ship Commission Expected Here

Mr. Justice Richards, chairman of the commission inquiring into B.C.'s shipbuilding industry, said in Vancouver today it is likely the commission will come to Victoria to hold sittings, but the itinerary is under consideration.

He was replying to the invitation of the Victoria Shipyard Council, which Thursday night through its secretary, N. D. Booth, asked that the commission hold sittings here.

The invitation from the Victoria group said "the council has information which the commission should secure before coming to any decision affecting the safety and welfare of the shipbuilding industry."

Their cruised for 62 days, zig-zagging and travelling in total blackout, missing collision with a freighter one night by only 30 feet. Five ships in a convoy of 11 following them were torpedoed and sunk.

Dependent Children Commission Meeting

Commission for the Education of Soldiers' Dependent Children meeting Thursday at the Department of Education, dealt with 273 applications, 10 failing to fulfil requirements of the Act and were turned down.

Definitely passed were 252 applications and the remainder, because they were not complete, are being held over for the second meeting of the commission, to be held before schools reopen in September.

"In spite of the fact that nowadays there are more opportunities of securing employment, the need for assistance such as the Act provides is still very great, as a large proportion of those applying for aid suffer from war disabilities and are therefore not physically fit to take on full-time work," Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education said today, adding that only veterans of the 1914-18 war are eligible for help under the terms of the Act.

The commission said there are no outstanding results to report, but the progress of the students throughout the year maintained a satisfactory level. Of those replying for assistance, 95.52 per cent were promoted to higher grades, some with honors standing. Thirty-six students were successful in obtaining partial or full university entrance standing.

F. J. Townsend has filled the place on the commission left vacant by the death of Lt. Col. W. S. Buell. Mr. Townsend represents the Canadian Legion, and has had experience as a teacher and as western field supervisor of the Canadian Legion War Services—education section.

Gas Sales Decrease

Gasoline sales to private automobiles are becoming less each month, Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Coal and Petroleum Control Board, said today in his monthly report for June.

Last month's gas sales to other than the services reached a total of 5,143,860 gallons, a reduction of 1,375,089 gallons from June of 1941.

Victoria area, including Vancouver Island, consumed 12.7 per cent of B.C.'s total in June. Vancouver used 55.2 per cent and the rest of the province 32.1 per cent.

Commercial sale jumped in June, because of the large number of navy, army and air force trucks now in the province.

Waitresses Return

Waitresses in two of B.C.'s boom towns, Nanaimo and Dawson Creek, who went on strike this week in protest against their wages, are back on the job.

R. D. Lennox, an inspector of the Department of Labor, returned to Victoria today from Nanaimo and reported waitresses in a cafe there had returned to their work when it was promised the Regional War Board would look into their request for more pay.

The Labor Department has no details on the Dawson Creek waitress strike, except that it is now finished and presumed amicably settled.

Vichy Radio Alleges Leningrad Abandoned

OTTAWA (CP)—The Vichy radio which is usually inaccurate on its reports of fighting in Russia, was overheard by the CBC listening post today broadcasting reports that Leningrad had been evacuated by the Russians.

The Vichy broadcast said Leningrad had been abandoned because of a shortage of water.

School Teachers Get Better Deal

"Several teachers are getting decent salaries for the first time," Harry Charlesworth, general secretary of the B.C. Teachers' Federation, told members of the profession assembled here for Summer School in the Victoria High School auditorium today.

While the fight continued with school boards for better rates of pay in certain districts, the position of the teacher at present was immensely strengthened, he said. The boards, he continued, were realizing they could not get teachers at the old salaries, some of which ranged from the minimum of $780 to $830, and were now paying as high as $900 in rural areas.

One teacher, Mr. Charlesworth added, had been given an increase from $1,000 to $1,400 this year as a voluntary gesture by the board. Members of the profession were recognizing their own position and were resigning rather than accept the $780 minimum. One, he noted, had left her post at that salary, taken a civil servant's examination and qualified for a post at $100 a month.

He foresaw the time when a provincial salary schedule would be established.

MORE SECURITY

During recent years, Mr. Charlesworth said, the teachers had also gained a greater sense of security and were relieved of the occasionally unjust dismissals through the right of appeal.

"Teachers now are getting a protection they did not have in years gone by," he said, showing how court action has sustained their positions.

He discussed in some detail teaching, old and new, tracing developments from the inception of the federation 25 years ago up to the present.

Classroom methods had changed radically, he said, noting there was some justification for those critics of the modern system who said much that was good had been discarded. Accuracy and thoroughness had been sacrificed to a degree, he said, but there were compensating advantages in the modern methods which presented a wider curriculum and made education more practical.

CHANGED METHODS

Geography, which had once been taught as a citation of dry facts and place names, was now taught as a social study related to history and dealing with the lives of people. Similarly, he said, history had ceased to be a dry, factual recitation of past events and now took note of contemporary events.

Mr. Charlesworth, speaking of arithmetic, said he himself had taught banking methods which no banker had ever used, had sought to teach methods of measuring and laying floors and carpets which were quite foreign to practical methods.

He did not decry the old teachers, "In spite of many handicaps, the teachers in B.C. in bygone years did magnificent work and made a great job of teaching," he said.

The meeting closed with a discussion of current teacher problems, particularly those related to the rural teacher.

More Victorians Join Air Force

Angus Michael Morrow, son of Eng. Capt. A. D. M. Curry of H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, and Mrs. Curry, is among the Victoria boys who enlisted in the R.C.A.F. from No. 1 Recruiting Centre, Vancouver. He was a student at Victoria College last year.

Other Victorians who have enlisted in the R.C.A.F. recently are Robert Milligan Donaldson, 1051 Queen's Avenue; Walter Holden Laing, 2659 Cadboro Bay Road; Frank Taaffe, Royal Oak; James Price Borrowman, 855 Fort Street, and James Oliver Swan, 2505 Cook Street.

Three Victoria girls have joined the R.C.A.F. (Women's division). They are Anne Mary Turner, Royal Oak; Doreen Rhodes, 817 McClure Street, and Margaret Eleanor Gibson, 770 Fort Street.

$300 for Bootlegging

Cecil Cannon was fined $300, with the alternative of serving three months at hard labor, when convicted in police court today of illegally selling beer, July 10.

Sgt. Roy Woolsey of the city police testified that he went to Cannon's residence, July 10, where Constables William Andrews and Douglas Buckle had purchased beer.

He said he found five cartons of beer and ale, 27 loose bottles of beer and partly empty bottles of rye whisky and rum.

"Just seven weeks' foolishness," Cannon said as sentence was passed by Magistrate H. C. Hall.

Clothing, Money Found on Thieves

Patrick J. Malone and Thomas Brown were remanded until Saturday for sentence when they appeared in police court today after pleading guilty Thursday to a charge of breaking and entering Dorman's clothing store, Douglas Street, Wednesday night at 11.

Constable Norman Bath, who arrested the two men, said the glass in the side door of the store had been smashed with a brick. On entering the store, he arrested Malone. He said he then phoned for the patrol wagon, and with Constable William Elliott arrested Brown, who was hiding behind a counter in the back of the store.

Constable Bath said he found a bundle of loosely-wrapped clothing on the safe and a number of socks in Brown's windbreaker. The sum of $102 was found on Malone and $22 on Brown. A total of $77.53 was missing from the store.

Malone was also charged with retaining a stolen radio, Detective Louis Callan testifying that it had been stolen from a car on Langley Street early in March. Malone was also remanded until Saturday for sentence on this charge.

Both men said they were under the influence of liquor when they entered Dorman's.

Maitland Urges Link With Peace

"The B.C. coast must find a connection with the Peace River country," Attorney-General R. L. Maitland, K.C., said today on his return from a 10-day tour of the northern interior.

"This is probably the richest area in this province," he said. "After the war it is going to play a tremendous part. Unless we are alive to the situation advantages are going to be lost to us. Both from a war standpoint and to prepare for the future, we should see to it that we are connected with the Peace."

Mr. Maitland, discussing the tremendous developments of the north, said "the fight with Japan may be fought from this area. One thing is certain—with Japan in the war, B.C. contains many points that are vulnerable. A.R.P. can no longer be neglected. It is a matter of supreme importance, not only to the coast, but to the interior as well."

The Attorney-General, who was accompanied by B.C. Police Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons, said police affairs in the north are in good shape.

"Despite the large influx of people the crime index is exceedingly low," he said. "This is due to discipline so well exercised by United States authorities."

"I was greatly impressed by the tremendous effort being made by the U.S. army and government on the Alaska Highway project. Some of the work done gives one an idea of just what can be accomplished, in-road making, by heavy equipment."

In 10 days the Attorney-General and police commissioner traveled 2,000 miles, making a trip by air to Fort St. James. The Attorney-General returned with his face burned and peeling from the warm sun.

Constable Norman Bath, who arrested the two men, said the glass in the side door of the store had been smashed with a brick. On entering the store, he arrested Malone. He said he then phoned for the patrol wagon, and with Constable William Elliott arrested Brown, who was hiding behind a counter in the back of the store.

Constable Bath said he found a bundle of loosely-wrapped clothing on the safe and a number of socks in Brown's windbreaker. The sum of $102 was found on Malone and $22 on Brown. A total of $77.53 was missing from the store.

Malone was also charged with retaining a stolen radio, Detective Louis Callan testifying that it had been stolen from a car on Langley Street early in March. Malone was also remanded until Saturday for sentence on this charge.

Both men said they were under the influence of liquor when they entered Dorman's.

Bill Sent to Senate

Overseas Conscription Voted by Commons 141 to 45

OTTAWA (CP)—The way was cleared for imposition of unlimited conscription when the House of Commons gave third reading Thursday night to bill 80 after an old-fashioned political free-for-all in which Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressed his readiness to hold a general election.

The prime minister, expressing resentment at criticism of his leadership in the House and in the press, declared his belief that he held the confidence of the people and his willingness to test it.

The conscription measure—bill 80—empowering the government to impose compulsory service for overseas by order-in-council, was adopted with a recorded vote of 141 to 45.

Previously the House had rejected a motion by J. S. Roy, Ind. Gaspe, Que., to give the bill a "six months' hold" by a vote of 150 to 37. C.C.F. members voted against the hold, but also voted against third reading. The vote for the hold got support from two Quebec Independents and 35 Quebec Liberals.

BY ORDER-IN-COUNCIL

Now the bill is in the hands of the Senate. When it passes there and becomes law it is the intention of the government to feel free to impose unlimited conscription at any time by order-in-council without further reference to Parliament on the merits of that action.

In his speech to the House Thursday night, Mr. King repeated his pledge that before he attempts to put such an order-in-council into operation he will ask Parliament for a vote of confidence in himself and his administration.

In this connection he mentioned, as he did in the House Wednesday, the desirability of having not only an expression of the confidence of the House but of the people of Canada.

The Prime Minister indicated that two circumstances might induce him to seek a fresh mandate from the people—the attitude of members of the House of Commons and the attitude of the press.

MUST HAVE CONFIDENCE

"No leader of a government and no government can carry on the duties of government, and especially in time of war, unless absolutely sure of a following in the House of Commons," he said at one stage.

"That is the position that I feel the present government has come to, or more particularly, that I myself have come to at the present time, after three years in which honorable gentlemen opposite and some of their press friends elsewhere have been doing all they possibly can to undermine this administration and to cause not only the people of Canada but the people of other countries to lose faith in myself as leader of an administration in time of war."

"Now that we have come to a crisis I feel it absolutely necessary, if I am to carry on longer as head of the administration, that I should know whether I have got a solid following in this House of Commons and in the country."

READS GLOBE EDITORIAL

Mr. King read an extract from a Toronto Globe and Mail editorial of last July 10 which he said accused him of dictatorial suppression of parliamentary privileges for partisan ends.

"I ask honorable members if a leading publication in the largest city in Ontario can issue that sort of thing to the people in time of war, how can anyone expect that a man who has got the least self-respect left is going to ask the country to have him continue in office if people believe that sort of thing about him?"

"As a matter of fact I think I know pretty well the confidence the people of this country have in me and I am not afraid to go before the people at any time."

Later the Prime Minister said: "I can assure every member of this House that any time they wish to have a vote of want of confidence I am willing to give them the opportunity, and the moment that vote carries no one will leave office more quickly than your humble servant."

WILL DECIDE AT MOMENT

He had been asked what he would do when the time came to ask for a vote of confidence in his leadership to carry out unlimited conscription.

"What I will do when the time comes," he said, "will depend upon what happens at the time and what I think best in the national interest."

"I have been careful in what I have said to speak for myself alone. I can only speak for myself as to the course I shall take if I have a certain responsibility. But I do say this, and I say it most emphatically, that no man, I do not care who he is, could carry on a government in time of war unless he had the confidence of the House of Commons, a majority behind him."

If it became necessary to adopt an order-in-council for unlimited conscription and the cabinet approved it, Mr. King said, before putting it into operation "I want this House of Commons to declare whether it has confidence in me as the head of the administration that is to carry out this policy of conscription or whether they prefer to have another government in the place of the administration in office here."

CARDIN SPEAKS

Last hours of the conscription

Kayo for Mauriello

Constantino Winner

NEW YORK (AP)—A feather-weight championship fight for September and a Lee Savold-Tami Mauriello tussle for August were on Mike Jacobs' cauliflower card today as a result of the reopening of Madison Square Garden to the business of busting beads.

Charley (Lulu) Constantino got the featherweight shot with Chalky Wright, tentatively written for in Sept. 24, by being handed a split 12-round decision Thursday night over Pedro Hernandez, a Puerto Rican from Brooklyn, in the co-feature on the Garden's card, but this verdict was booed lustily.

Much more decisive was the way the Bronx better, young Mauriello, stopped old Baltimore Red Burman in nine rounds with a badly-gashed left eye. Through his win, Tami was awarded the go with Savold for Aug. 20.

RALLIES STRONGLY
But on each of these occasions Tami snugged out of it and came back swinging to take the round. Only in the fourth beat—the slowest of what was otherwise a fast-moving mill all the way—did Burman get any kind of an edge.

GEORGE SANDERS and Bruce Cabot in a scene from "Sundown," now at the York Theatre.

Dominion Showing Romantic Story

The clinical, romantic and suspenseful elements that appear to have popularized the Dr. Kildare series from the M.G.M. studio, have been retained in "Calling Dr. Gillespie," at the Dominion Theatre. In the spot formerly occupied by Lew Ayres is Philip Dorn, who performs capably. Lionel Barrymore is the same sanctimonious "Old Reliable" Dr. Gillespie. Around him and Dorn revolves the case of young Phil Brown, afflicted with Donna Reed, who develops a fixation to kill Barrymore because the latter declared him to be a mental case, which he is. The latter portion of the film builds to great suspense, as Brown, gunning for Barrymore, after eluding the police, is being tracked in a hospital.

The cast includes Lionel Barrymore, Philip Dorn, Donna Reed, Phil Brown, and Nat Pendleton.

HANSON CRITICIZES
Conservative House Leader Hanson, who followed Mr. Cardin, was bitterly critical of the government in its handling of the conscription issue.

He told Mr. Cardin he should not look beyond his own party and his own leader if he had any complaint of the manner in which Quebec was treated.

"If my honorable friend has any quarrel or suggests any betrayal in connection with those called in for the four months' training plan, then I say his quarrel is with his former friends who concealed as fully as possible their real intentions when they started this mobilization legislation."

Mr. Hanson also attacked the C.C.F. Party, which he declared "on the specious grounds that by this bill the government was not proposing to conscript wealth and industry, and in order to carry favor with certain parts of the electorate of this country, voted against second reading of this bill."

Angus MacInnis, C.C.F. Vancouver East, expressed resentment at this assertion and interpreted it as meaning his party sought the support of Quebec anti-conscriptionists who, he said, were as far apart "as the poles" from his group.

ATLAS THEATRE
An exceptional musical score was provided as background for the comedy exploits of Bud Abbott and Lou Costello in their latest picture, "Rio Rita," currently at the Atlas Theatre, with M-G-M's singing find, Kathryn Grayson, and John Carroll filling the romantic singing roles.

Miss Grayson has a brilliant solo number in "The Shadow Song" from Dinorah, by Meyerbeer, and also sings two duets with Carroll, "Long Before You Came Along," by Harold Arlen and E. Y. Harburg, and "The Ranger's Song," by Harry Tierney and Joseph McCarthy, the latter number being sung by a male chorus of 50 rangers on horseback.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA
Dickie Moore, who plays one of Shirley Temple's few friends in her new picture, "Miss Annie Rooney," which is currently at Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, has one of Hollywood's most unusual hobbies. The 16-year-old actor trains falcons.

Instead of playing football or baseball or jitterbugging on his free days, Dickie and Bill Lasky, son of Jesse Lasky, cart half a dozen hawks out into the wilds and spend hours training them.

Shirley almost got one of the hawks from Dickie as a token of his pleasure in working with her. He offered, she accepted—and Shirley's mother said a firm "No!"

NEW YORK (AP)—Eric Tipton thinks he's a pretty lucky guy, even if he does have to ride in upper berths and knows he is No. 842 or thereabouts in the list of players Cincinnati Reds have tried out to plug the ever-leaking hole in left field the past few years.

Eric is the midseason rookie the Reds obtained from Kansas City, and whose first two hits for Bill McKechnie were a triple and a home run.

The term rookie is used advisedly, as this is not his first trip to the big show. He was hired by Connie Mack in June, 1939, and finished the season with the Athletics, but he was shipped to Toronto the next year.

MODEST CHAP
He's a modest, personable young fellow, whose gridiron fame overshadows his baseball career. He's the guy who kicked Duke's scoreless wonders into the Rose Bowl a few years back. He was on the pro football draft list, but passed up the chance for gridiron money, thinking he could do better playing baseball. He had begun to have his doubts when the Reds came to his rescue.

He hasn't been with the Reds long enough to know who's who, but he knows they're a swell bunch of fellows, even though they do make him ride in an upper. He's in good company there, though.

"All the pitchers ride in uppers except the one who is to work the next day," he explains.

He's a right-handed hitter who packs power, something the Reds have used sparingly this year. He was hitting about .309 when he left Kansas City, with 31 of his 96 blows going for extra bases.

CADET THEATRE
Tarzan, junior has been given a companion in "Tarzan's Secret Treasure," new jungle adventure playing at the Cadet Theatre.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer signed Cordell Hickman, eight-year-old Negro boy who scored in the stage production of "The Mikado in Swing," and "The Biscuit Eater," to play the pal of little Johnny Sheffield, Johnny Weissmuller's foster son in the Tarzan series. In the story the junior Tarzan finds a native lad in the jungle and they strike up a friendship, figuring in many episodes together.

The musical score for Walt Disney's amazing "Fantasia," which is being presented at the Capitol Theatre, ranges from the barbaric, savage, discordant in the more manner through loved melodies. This unparalleled feat of recording was accomplished by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra under the direction of the celebrated Leopold Stokowski.

Germany Feels Pinch Of Shipping Shortage

By EDWIN SHANKE

LONDON (AP)—Germany, pinched for shipping space after almost three years of war, has started a campaign to salvage vessels sunk along the European coast and is pushing a program for construction of standardized merchantmen similar to the American "Liberty ships," British sources declared today.

The situation facing the Reich is reflected in official British reports that, of the 9,000,000 tons of merchant shipping with which Germany and Italy started the war, 5,250,000 tons had been sent to the bottom prior to last December.

How much tonnage the Axis has lost since then is largely a matter of speculation, but Allied communiques indicate that it is considerable.

STRUGGLES

While the British and United States navies have virtually throttled Germany's overseas commerce, she is struggling tremendously to maintain vital supply lines in European waters—particularly in the Baltic and the Mediterranean.

In the Baltic, German freighters are moving iron ore from Lulea, Sweden, to north German ports and supplying Nazi troops in Russia and their Finnish allies.

With Soviet submarines on the loose in the Baltic this is becoming a hazardous job. The Germans are reported to have recently to convoying.

In the Mediterranean, Germany is largely dependent upon Italian shipping space to keep her armies in north Africa supplied, to maintain service to Spain and to transport troops to Sicily. British warships and R.A.F. patrols have been taking a heavy toll of shipping on these routes.

In addition, German ships constantly are shuttling along the Norwegian and Netherlands North Sea coasts and across the Bay of Biscay, where they are moving ore from northern Spain to Bayonne and Bordeaux.

These ship movements are subject to constant air attack, and the problem of unloading vessels once they have safely arrived in German ports is complicated by periodic bombings of dock facilities at such important centres as Stettin, Luebeck, Kiel, Hamburg and Bremen.

TAXED TO LIMIT

These bombing raids, coupled with the Allied blockade, have put an extra strain on Germany's overland transportation system, already taxed to the limit.

The blockade also has forced Germany to exert vast efforts to attain a degree of self-sufficiency—at great cost. For instance, British experts estimate, Germany is obliged to keep 11,000,000 men employed in the food industry alone—men the Nazis can ill afford to spare from their armed forces.

By contrast Britain, through the aid afforded by overseas supply convoys, has only 1,000,000 men tied up in agriculture.

To help close the leaks in the blockade, the Allies have resorted to such steps as blacklisting and pre-emption deals—buying from neutrals strategic supplies, especially chrome, tungsten, wool and rubber, which might reach the Axis.

Chinese Sailors Ask Release

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice Robertson has adjourned indefinitely hearing of the applications of 10 Chinese sailors, held in the immigration shed here, for their release on writs of habeas corpus.

The adjournment was made pending an investigation by a board of inquiry into the status of the sailors. The seamen, who came from Hongkong, were brought to Vancouver from San Francisco in March, after which they demanded more money to continue as members of the crew of the steamship Edna, of Panamanian registry.

They joined the ship in Sydney, Australia, and applied for writs of habeas corpus on learning that they might be sent to Suva, Fiji Islands.

Northern Air Activity Reaches New Record

EDMONTON — Edmonton is rapidly developing as the aerial outlet for what may well become the world's greatest military air supply route, said C. S. (Punch) Dickins, vice-president and general manager of C.P. Airlines.

Montreal, now in Edmonton after completing an inspection trip of the company's northern air routes.

"This city is already the centre of the greatest air activity in Canada and traffic on the Yukon and northern route of Canadian Pacific Airlines has increased 150 per cent this year," added Mr. Dickins, in stressing Edmonton's key position in the main departure point for both Canadian and United States defence air cargo and personnel.

Mr. Dickins stated that C.P. Airlines, now one of the world's largest commercial air systems, has almost 100 planes in operation throughout Canada in connection with passenger and freight traffic.

In addition to these vital war-air-transport services the company also operates on a non-profit basis six of nine air observers' schools in Canada, one elementary flying training school and four engine overhaul and aircraft plants, all part of the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan. He stated that C.P. Airlines now has about five times as many employees in these plants as the total for all transport employees on the company's airlines throughout the Dominion.

BUSH FLYING

"Bush flying has now become big business," added Mr. Dickins, who pointed out that without the groundwork laid by northern pilots in the past decade many of the present war air cargo routes would not presently exist. In addition, the resourcefulness and long flying experience of northern pilots had made many of them first-rate instructors in flying schools and for such work

SAYS B.C. SHIPS BETTER BUILT

VANCOUVER (CP)—The shipyards of British Columbia may not build ships as fast as do the Kaiser yards in Portland, but they build them a great deal better.

So Bruce Watson, foreman in the pipe shop of North Van Ship Repairs, told the commission investigating production in British Columbia yards here, R. C. Logan, veteran pipe shop foreman at Burrard Drydock, supported Watson's view.

"Liberty ships (being produced in Kaiser's yard) are rated 100 per cent by Lloyd's, and ours are three times better," Watson declared. "There is no comparison between the ships, and I have been inspecting for about eight years."

In British Columbia we have some of the finest mechanics and shipbuilders. The pick of the shipbuilders in British Columbia come from the Clyde, the Tyne and other parts of the Old Country.

U.S. Naval Building Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 360 per cent increase in naval ship construction over a year ago and development of an air arm "which will provide the United States with the strongest offensive force in naval history," are reported by the House of Representatives naval committee.

The committee also reports that 95 per cent of war contractors are not profiting unduly, but recommends congressional action to stop the remaining 5 per cent from "enriching themselves at public expense."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—Light bidding for selected rails and industrials helped cushion general declining tendencies in today's stock market.

While fractional recessions ruled in the closing hour, there were a few wider setbacks. An assortment of modest plus marks was in evidence at the last.

Failure of any real selling pressure to appear was the most encouraging feature of the session. Transfers were around 250,000 shares.

Among Canadian stocks Canadian Pacific and Hiram Walkers came 1/4 and Distillers Seagram held unchanged.

Dorothy Dix:

Possessive Mother Forces Daughter To Be Old Maid

Dear Miss Dix—Why am I an old maid? I'll tell you. It is because I have a possessive mother who thinks that I should not only spend my life working to support her, but devote all my spare time to entertaining her. I try to make good on both counts. I buy her better clothes than I have myself so that she will look young and pretty. I give her trips while I stay at home. I work all day and then do the housework when I come home. I try to get her to go out with women of her own age.

Nothing doing. She wants to go out with me and my friends. The result is that I am never asked with the crowd because she is a misfit who ruins the fun. I never have a date because no boy wants to drag an elderly woman around.

My mother is in good health. She is nearly middle-aged. There is no reason why she shouldn't have an independent life of her own, but she won't. When I even try to interest her in anything she accuses me of being ungrateful and trying to get rid of her. Rather than argue or talk I take it, but it is taking the heart out of me, and everlastingly queering my chances of getting married. Is there anything that can be done about it?

DAUGHTER.

Answer: Nothing that you would have the intestinal fortitude to do, because it takes a lot of courage for a daughter to get off of her, and that she isn't going to be kicked about any longer. But a lot could be done if you have the nerve to do it.

GET MOTHER A JOB

For instance: Your mother is young enough and strong enough to earn her own living, and she could do it instead of being a parasite upon you. But she is too lazy and trifling to even do the housework, and when you come home after your hard day's toil you have to cook the dinner and wash the dishes. Well, get Mother a job.

Tell her that she is on her own and that you are going to lay up some money for your old age. She will begin weeping all over the place. Let her weep. Nobody ever drowned in tears yet. She will talk about her bad nerves or her poor heart. Inform her that the doctors say that there is nothing so good for either complaint as something to do that will keep her so busy she won't have time to think about her aches and pains.

If you will do this and get her started to work, she will be a thousand times happier and more contented than she is in grafting on you.

Invite some women of her own age and get her interested in playing bridge, or working out picture puzzles or whatnot; and you go with your own friends without making any excuse or apologies to her. When she finds that she cannot, by self-pity, persuade you into staying with her, she will make friends in self-defence. In her heart she knows that young people do not want old people hanging on to their skirts when they go out for good times.

I realize that it is a terrible thing for children to have to discipline their parents, but when parents act like spoiled babies they have to be dealt with accordingly.

FACES ARDUOUS QUEST

Dear Dorothy Dix—What can a girl do who is fast getting to be an old maid? Every time I find someone I think is the right one he leaves me for someone else. I invariably attract someone who isn't attractive to me. Why can't

I find someone who is my ideal and I'd be his ideal, too?

I think maybe the trouble is that when I like a man I can't help showing how crazy I am about him, and that seems to drive men off.

27-YEARS OLD.

Answer: Well, if you are looking for someone who is your ideal, you have a long and arduous quest before you; and if you expect to be any man's ideal and to have these two ideals meet and blend, you are indeed asking for the impossible, for probably no such miracle has ever happened. You will never find your ideal, for no human being ever comes up to a woman's heart's desire; and no woman ever reaches the flawless being that a man would like his wife to be.

So forget it. If you really want to marry, come down to poor, faulty humanity and make your selection among the ordinary creatures whom you meet every day.

Certainly you make a great mistake when you begin chasing every man you meet who attracts you, and showing him that you are crazy about him. Bear in mind that men want to be the pursuers instead of the pursued, and they have no appetite for the peach that is so ripe it drops into their mouths. It is the one that hangs highest on the tree and that is hardest to get that they risk their lives to pluck.

ONLY FAST BOYS DATE HER

Dear Dorothy Dix—I find that the only boys who will date me are the fast ones. They date me for a few times then I never hear from them again. On a first date I am careful only to let a boy kiss me and then not too much, as I don't want the reputation of being fast. Still I love boys and want to know how I can hold their attention.

I hate girls, since they are all catty and talk about me behind my back, without any reserve. Nevertheless, one can live without girls, but not without boys. What shall I do?

LILY PEARL.

Answer: Well, Lily Pearl, don't you think that boys get tired of you and drop you so quickly because you are too easy, too free with your kisses? The lips that are free for every Tom, Dick and Harry who comes along are not alluring to a man of fastidious taste.

Anybody with the price of a hot dog and a soft drink can get one. The romantic chap wants his to come higher, to cost more in effort and persuasion and be harder to get.

You are also making a mistake in despising girls. You forget that they are the ones who give the parties, who open and close doors in society and who all your life will make or mar your social status. Believe me, the girl who is unpopular with other girls has a mighty thin time of it. And bear in mind two things: One is that girls have brothers and cousins who are eligible. And the other thing is: Men always take another woman's judgment of a woman.

And don't be unjust enough to resent the girls' gossiping about you. If you don't care enough about your reputation to take care of it yourself, why should you expect them to do so?

Millions of Mohammedans Live in Europe

The Prophet Mohammed lived more than 1,300 years ago. He started a religion which is now powerful and widespread.

Members of the faith go by many names. Here are a few of them: Mohammedans, Moslems, Islamites, Mussulmans and Muslims. During the Middle Ages people often spoke of them as Saracens, Arabs, "Turks" and Moors. The best name, for modern usage, seems to be either "Mohammedan" or "Moslem."

There are more than 200,000,000 Mohammedans in the world, and they live mainly in Africa and Asia.

More than half the people in northern Africa are Mohammedans. Some negroes have adopted the religion, but most African Mohammedans are members of the Arab branch of the white race.

An old saying tells us that a prophet does not have honor in his own country. While he was alive, Mohammed fell into some trouble in his native city, but now he is greatly honored in every part of Arabia. Almost all the people there are followers of his faith.

We also find this religion strong in Iraq, Iran and India. The exact number of Mohammedans in India is not known, but it probably is between 70,000,000 and 80,000,000. They have supplied many soldiers for the United Nations. Some of them have fought in Egypt and Libya, as well as in Asia, during the present war.

We seldom think of Europe as a place where there are Mohammedans, but Europe has several millions of them. The European Mohammedans live in the Balkans, also in the Caucasus region of southern Russia.

Wherever the Mohammedans settle in large numbers, they build "mosques." These are churches, or "houses of prayer." The name "mosque" came from the Arabic language, and means "place of prayer."

Mosques are not always of the same design, but we may make some general statements about them. They usually are buildings with domes, in the midst of an open square.

During a visit in Egypt, I watched Mohammedans passing in and out of a mosque. They took their shoes off before they entered the building. Since I was not a Mohammedan, I was not allowed to go inside. I did, however, go inside another mosque in Cairo, at a time when it was not in use for worship.

GEORGIA GOVERNOR WARNS NEGROES

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Governor Eugene Talmadge Thursday advised any negro who does not like the state's segregation laws "to stay out of Georgia."

He made the statement in his political weekly, the Statesman, in commenting on telegrams of "indignation" he received following charges by Roland Hayes, negro concert singer, that he was beaten recently by Rome, Ga., police.

"We are going to keep the Jim Crow laws and protect them and will not allow the whites and the blacks to be taught in the same schools and colleges in the state of Georgia," said the governor.

He said that in Georgia the whites and negroes both approve of the laws providing for separation of the races in restaurants, hotels and other public places. "Outside influences," Talmadge added, "know nothing about the traditions and conditions here and should not interfere with the friendship between the two races of long years' standing."

Talmadge caused the ouster last year of several educators on charges they advocated racial education. The educators denied the charges. Subsequently several state schools were discredited. The ousters are at issue in Talmadge's current campaign for re-election. Attorney General Ellis Arnall opposes him for the Sept. 9 Democratic primary.

They'll Do It Every Time

Picture Company Goes To Sea for Navy Shots

Actors, the director, camera-men and other members of the technical crew went down to the sea in ships today to continue filming of Lester Cowan's production "The Commandos Come at Dawn".

The day's work marked the opening of action involving naval units and personnel and brought in the third of the three Canadian forces.

Thursday was a day of mighty explosions in the Pat Bay area where the commandos, led by Paul Muni, as a Norwegian patriot, and F.O. Robert Coote, Hollywood actor loaned to the company by the R.C.A.F., worked on close-up which filled out the preceding day's distance shots.

The section of the story handled Thursday was that in which the commandos led to a concealed "Nazi" airport by Muni, broke in on the field where four planes were ready to bomb convoys.

"Nazis," actually members of the R.C.A.F., were servicing the planes, moving about the field and in and out of barracks. The commandos broke in on them from three sides. "Nazis" caught unprepared, rushed out of barracks and sheds, some armed, some only partially dressed. A battle ensued. Muni, as the Norwegian patriot, tosses a hand grenade and blows up a gun emplacement. Commandos run towards a brush screen hiding a Nazi plane. The bomber is shown behind the screen. One of the invaders lays a charge of dynamite under the machine. The next shot shows a terrific explosion. When the smoke clears away the wreckage of a plane, a service crash substituted for the actual bomber, is shown lying in a heap of debris.

Other explosions blew up three shacks representing ammunition and gasoline storage installations.

Actually there was no material damage from the raid to the vicinity. Cows grazing in the neighborhood galloped around at the noise and spectators with jumpy nerves were a little upset.
